THEIR 16TH ANNIVERSARY.

Grand Dry Goods Opening of O'Donnell & Gilbride Co.

Sixteen years ago this month Constantine O'Donnell and Patrick Gilbride started in business in a small store on the site of their present quarters. Each year since, this popular firm has been adding to its business until today they claim to have the largest and best stocked department store north of Boston. This year they have taken in partnership two of the young men formerly in their employ, James A. Kelley, who had charge of the cloak department, and John H. Burns, the accountant of the establishment.

With the addition of this young blood in the management of this large and popular house greater success than ever may be reasonably looked for. This morning Mr. Kelley took a Sun man through the establishment and showed him the choicest line of goods that has ever been shown in this city.

The first attractive features were the beautiful show windows where in one are to be seen as rich a collection of sacks and outer garments as the city affords. In the next are the dress goods, patterns and novelties. The firm has the exclusive sale of these patterns which are new. The third Merrimack street window shows blankets that would gladden the hearts of Arctic explorers, and other domestic goods. In the Palmer street window one finds a most elaborate display of furniture. A new and exquisite Dresden set holds the eye of the spectator and causes expressions of admiration while near by may be seen a handsome brass bed with accompanying chamber furniture, a bird's eye maple, a white ivory and mahogany set, the beauty of each being enhanced by the contrast as presented by the skilful window dresser.

Within all is grand. The larger basement is replete with everything imaginable in the line of cut glass and chinaware while the carpet and drapery room abounds with the latest patterns.

In the furniture, and in fact in all other departments, the attractions are numerous and striking, while the prices are surprisingly low.

The store is adorned throughout with potted plants and ferns and the opening, which continues tomorrow and Saturday, is a credit to the business and to its projectors, The O'Donnell and Gilbride Company.

LADIES' NIGHT

Observed by Knights of Columbus Last Night.

Lowell council, Knights of Columbus, formally opened their season of entertainment and amusement in their quarters in Associate building last night, by a party which was attended by about 75 couples.

It was "ladies night," given in honor of the lady friends of the members and it was successful in every way. Dancing was from 8 to 12, and it was kept up to the music of Hibbard's orchestra. Mr. P. H. Corcoran was general manager and he was ably assisted by several aids.

Of special interest to the ladies of Lowell will be the millinery opening announced by Mrs. P. H. Foote for Friday and Saturday of this week at 24 Central street, Swan building, where the latest novelties in women's head wear will be on exhibition. This store is noted for the excellence of its designs, and the ladies should not forget this display.

Moriarty Matched.

Tom Moriarty of Lowell and Paddy Fenton of East Boston are matched to box 15 rounds at Hartford, Ct., Oct. 15, at 140 pounds.

$25 Prize.

The John street church committee will pay a prize of $25 to any person or organization who will sell $250 worth of tickets to the Story of the Reformation at Huntington hall, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Oct. 7 and 8. REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Heads Its State Ticket With Wolcott and Crane.

Declarations Made For McKinley and St. Louis Platform—No New Issues Are Presented in Platform Which Makes Hypocritical Stand For Freedom of Ballot—Interesting Reference to Democracy and Supreme Court.

Boston, Oct. 1—Not in many years has the list of delegates to the Republican state convention included so many Republicans of prominence, not only in the state, but in the nation, as this year. Nearly all the congressmen are delegates, most of the living ex-governors, and other high officials and ex-officials in political life.

ROGER WOLCOTT.

The arrangements for the convention were exactly like those of last year. The delegates sat in the hall as they did in 1895, by counties, and the convention was called to order by Chairman George H. Lyman of the state committee, who made a speech in so doing, and started the flow of eloquence.

General William F. Draper of Hopedale presided permanently, and discussed the issues confronting the country. Congressman William H. Moody of Haverhill read the platform, as chairman of the committee on resolutions.

For months the only question about make-up of state ticket has been the nominee for lieutenant governor and caucuses of two weeks ago practically determined the success of Hon. Murray Crane of Dalton for that office notwithstanding threats of Winslow's followers to carry contest into convention. There was little doubt in the minds of the delegates as to the result. Acting Governor Wolcott and other active state officers were only candidates in the field.

Music Hall was tastefully decorated, large portraits of McKinley and Hobart forming conspicuous feature. Band stationed balcony enlivened early hours with patriotic airs, while presence large number women made scene one of brilliancy.

Hon. J. Q. A. Brackett will nominate Wolcott and President George P. Lawrence of North Adams, will nominate Crane.

The balance of the ticket is as follows:

For secretary of state, William M. Olin of Boston.

For treasurer and receiver general, E. P. Shaw of Newburyport.

For auditor, John W. Kimball of Fitchburg.

For attorney general, Hosea M. Knowlton of New Bedford.

Following is the platform adopted:

The Republicans of Massachusetts, assembled the second time within the year, have neither past professions to abjure nor new principles to announce. It is our good fortune that the beliefs we have always maintained will serve the people in this day of national peril.

As of old we favor:

A sound monetary system, a stable monetary unit, and the scrupulous observance in the letter and spirit of every public obligation.

The enactment of tariff laws which will provide revenue adequate for the payment of the national expenditures and the gradual reduction of the national debt, promote the policy of reciprocity, protect American industries and American workmen, and preserve our own markets to our own people.

The selection of officials in the state and national civil service by the test of merit, with every preference to the veteran soldiers of the republic which the provisions of the constitution and the efficiency of the public service will permit.

The right of every voter in the land to cast the ballot his conscience approves, free from coercion by violence or vexation, by any influence except that of free and open argument, and his and the public right to have that ballot counted as it is cast.

The rigid enforcement of existing laws in restriction of immigration, and their extension by adding to the excluded classes those who are unable to read and write their own or the English language, in the hope that thus the standard of American living and the quality of American citizenship may be preserved.

We disapprove all appropriations from the public money for sectarian purposes or sectarian institutions, and we urge that this principle be applied with exact impartiality, believing that thus the equality of all forms of religion before the law and the freedom of conscience, which the constitution secures, may be best conserved.

We commend the wise and honest conduct of affairs of the commonwealth which prevails under Republican power and responsibility.

While leaving to our representatives in the general court the greatest liberty of judgment and action, yet recalling our declaration made three years ago, we especially enjoin upon them to grant public franchises only after the most rigid scrutiny, and with every safeguard for the public interests. We believe that all corporations enjoying public franchises, and exercising public employments, under conditions which necessarily confer upon them a virtual monopoly, should be compelled by law to render service to the public for a reasonable return upon the actual investment, and not upon a fictitious capitalization.

The Republican party does not claim for itself the exclusive guardianship of our system of compulsory education, which receives the devotion of all. Of this system, the very essence is the unsectarian school, supported by the public purse, which invites to its instruction all the children of our people. Its benefits were never more manifest than today, and we pledge to it our constant and unwavering support.

We endorse the platform adopted by the national Republican convention at St. Louis.

But the duty of this hour demands something more than the restatement of the articles of our party creed. Mindful of the utterances of those who gathered at Chicago, under the name of Democracy, we are conscious that the success of our cause means more than the determination of party ascendency, and that we have the right to appeal to a broader constituency than the membership of the Republican party.

We denounce the voice of sectionalism, resurrected from the tomb where we supposed it to be buried forever. Massachusetts' patriotism can see beyond the confines of a section, and hold as precious as her own the just interests of all parts of the Union. We are steadfast in our principles, not because they will promote our own fortunes, to the injury of those who dwell elsewhere, but because we believe that in their success lies the welfare of all the people in the land.

As Republicans, and as Americans, we regret the spirit and tendency of the platform adopted at Chicago. We especially condemn its advocacy of the free coinage of silver, its covert threat against the supreme court, and its denial of the supremacy of the national laws.

Upon these questions, which touch the nation's honor and life, we will not be misunderstood.

We record again our unalterable opposition to the free and unlimited coinage of silver by this country alone, and our determination to maintain the existing gold standard of values, in the absence of any international agreement. We believe that the free and unlimited coinage of silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1 by this country alone, would result in a national disaster, from which no one would escape. If here and there, there is one whose selfish interest would seem to be promoted by the depreciation of our standard of values, let him be assured that the little which he might gain would be swallowed up in his share of the universal calamity. The radical change in the purchasing power of our dollar, which would be the inevitable result of the free coinage of silver, would be disastrous to the wage-earner and capitalist, creditor and debtor alike, would entail incalculable loss upon the industries and commerce of our country, and arrest, for an indefinite time, the development of our resources.

Every man has the right to criticize the opinions of the courts of justice as he will, to refuse to accept the rule of decision as the final expression of the law, and to hope and to strive for its reversal. But we believe that the appeal of the Chicago convention to the supreme court, "as it may hereafter be constituted," contains, and scarcely conceals the purpose of controlling its judgments by adding to the number of its justices. As thus understood, we denounce this declaration as a threat to degrade to an instrument for the registration of party edicts the independent tribunal established by the fathers, not only for the administration of justice, but as well for the preservation of our constitution, and the protection of the reserved rights and liberties of the American people.

The nation has no authority to protect any state against mere domestic violence, except upon the call of the state, but the President of the United States, in pursuance of his constitutional obligation to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed," has the right and duty to protect the property of the United States from injury or destruction, and maintain its laws against all resistance, from whatever quarter it may come, and this to do anywhere and everywhere where the American flag flies over American soil. The right denied by the Chicago platform was asserted by Lincoln, approved by Douglas, and sanctified by the blood shed in the Civil War. Through its exercise, the union of the states was preserved. We must maintain it, and transmit it unimpaired to the generations yet to come.

To the defense of these principles we summon all Republicans, and invite all others who believe them to be essential to the preservation of the nation's honor, the continuance the of general welfare, the integrity of our constitution and the supremacy of the nation, where, by right, it is supreme.

Never was better cause than ours, and never was cause committed to a purer, abler or more patriotic leader than William McKinley. To the cause and the leader we pledge a support which shall be loyal to the end.

Lowell Men Honored.

J. W. Benantt, Henry C. Dexter, H. P. Goodale, S. E. Snow, Abel Wheeler are vice presidents of the convention. G. L. Hooper is on the committee on credentials; F. W. Qua, committee on resolution; J. Tyler Stevens, committee on ballots.

ADVISORY BOARD

Said to Have Arranged Recent Meeting

AT WHICH ALDERMAN WILSON WAS BOOMED.

Other Political News of Local Interest.

Editor of the Lowell Daily Sun:

Noticing a communication in your last issue of your valuable paper from "A Voter of Ward Eight," and your reply to the same, I take the liberty to enlighten the Sun and also the Ward Eight voter. The republican meeting, so called, was brought together by the advisory board of the "A. P. A.," to find out the feelings of the members of the organization in regard to a candidate for mayor. The chairman of the meeting and others finding that the hall was packed with republicans and democrats who did not belong to the order, decided to make it an open republican meeting. For a request was made at the commencement of the meeting to find out if all present were entitled to sit in the hall. Alderman Wilson certainly made the statement as quoted, he undoubtedly thinking that all were A. P. As. present. In regard to the A. P. A. being dead the outlook is that it is very much alive and the only division is Joe Miller or John Wilson. Now, Mr. Editor, let Mr. Wilson state where he is at and if he is in sympathy with the order. Mr. Miller, we all know, and it will be to Alderman Wilson's benefit to state the truth. Z. Y. X.

The following is the invitation sent out:—

Dear Sir and Friend:

There will be a special meeting in Runels' hall building, Monday evening, Sept. 28th, at 8 o'clock.

You are earnestly requested to be present as business of importance and of personal interest to you will come up for action. Per order

COMMITTEE.

John C. Wilson was boomed again last night. His friends to the number of fifty gathered at the American house and told him that he is the man to save the city and lead the republican cause to victory. Amiable John took in all the talk and then commenced to believe that these boomers really meant what they said. By this time the wheels commenced to move vigorously and one man said that Mr. Wilson could unite the party and that no man could defeat him.

Among those present at the meeting were ex-Mayor Pickman, ex-Alderman Dunlap, Councilmen W. E. Badger, Sidney Drewett, George W. Hartwell and Fred A. George, and Major M. G. Perkins, A. G. Stiles and W. A. Lang.

Putnam Nominated.

George E. Putnam was finally placed in nomination as the republican senatorial candidate from the Seventh district, last night. The convention was held in the republican city committee headquarters. Joseph Miller was chairman and Harry E. Murray, secretary. On motion of Geo. E. Roper, Mr. Putnam was nominated by acclamation.

Mr. Putnam made a speech of acceptance, and was followed by Chairman Poore of the republican city committee, who made a plea for J. Henry Read for county commissioner.

The Sixth district Democratic Congressional committee met at headquarters yesterday and organized with James F. Owens of this city, chairman, and Thomas Fox of Woburn, secretary. John H. Harrington addressed the committee and plans of campaign were discussed.

The democratic councillor convention will be held in Jackson hall on October 5th.

The gold democrats in Chelmsford are very scarce. These believers in the yellow metal intended to have a rally last night and engaged the town hall. When 8 o'clock arrived there were three men in the hall and so no rally was held.

Bryan Does the Square Thing.

The Fitchburg Sentinel, a republican paper has the following:

Mr. Bryan does the square thing in reference to the burning of W. H. Burns' building in Worcester, Saturday night when he says that he does not believe any silver advocate would do Mr. Burns or his property any harm, and that no political reason can excuse an attack on person or property. It may be shown later that enemy of Mr. Burns took advantage of the excitement caused by the decorations of the building and that fire was not the work of any political opponents of Mr. Burns.

Following is a communication received at this office:

Editor of Sun:

I enclose to you a card with which the employes of the B. & M. R. R. are being bombarded. Many of the employes consider it a species of intimidation which is being employed by McKinley's agent, Hanna. Many are signing it, but wait until they vote. "Oh, what a surprise there will be in the morning."

Respectfully,

AN EMPLOYE,
B. & M. R. R.

Following is a copy of the card:

. . . . . 1895.

JOHN E. SHEEDY, Esq., Sec'y B & M. Gold Club,
Room 10, Union street, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

Please enroll my name as a member of the Boston & Maine Gold Club, in the interest of Sound Money.

Name . . . . . .
Occupation . . . . . .
Address . . . . . .

No charge for membership will be made but any voluntary subscriptions may be sent to George P. Wood, Treas., Union Station, Inward Baggage Room.

It would thus appear that if the company is not responsible for this movement it at least connives at it as a species of republican intimidation.

Since July 1, 163 naturalization papers have been taken out, but some of them represent the first papers.

The democratic county convention has been called to meet in Cambridge on Thursday of next week.

The Twentieth Century Girls met last night and received their uniforms. They will require about 20 more, so that the company will number eventually nearly 100 young men.

Col. Chadwick will be chief marshal of of the parade preceding the Filling flag raising tomorrow night.

Democrats should remember that the registrars will be in session today, tomorrow and Saturday from 1 to 2 in the afternoon, and 7 to 9 in the evening. Bring your tax bills with you, and if you are a naturalized voter, be sure you bring your naturalization papers to show to the registrars.

Every democrat should attend the primaries called for tonight to choose representative candidates. The candidates are all bright, clean young men, and the contests in all the wards are good-natured, nothing of a personal character entering into them. The men who win will have the united support of their defeated rivals. Let every voter turn out, record a big vote and encourage the young men. The influence of a large caucus is considerable and creates an enthusiasm bound to result beneficially to the candidates and the party.

William J. Bryan has covered more ground, and made more speeches than all the other democratic presidential candidates, since 1860, combined.

After tonight's caucuses there will be several councilmanic booms launched.

From the Lawrence Sun: We regret that Judge Corcoran and T. J. Gargan have placed themselves in a position to be buffeted about by such adverse political winds. Still, as they have deliberately chosen their course on the troubled sea they have only themselves to blame for ensuing results.

YEARS OF PROSPERITY.

Court Merrimack, F. of A., Passes Its 17th Noteh.

Seventeen years old, healthy and prosperous, is the record of Court Merrimack, F. of A.

Yesterday was the anniversary of its organization and the birthday party it held last night in Foresters' hall was a most enjoyable one.

E. F. Young, C. R., began the exercises with an address of welcome, and he was followed by W. F. Thornton, whose song was well given.

The other numbers were addresses by Supreme Chief Ranger L. J. Smith, who spoke on "Forestry"; E. S. McMurtry, supreme secretary, on "Benefits, social and financial, which come from membership in our order"; W. S. Stafford, F. S., on "The condition of our court"; songs, D. S. O'Brien, Wm. B. Ready and James Donnelly; and reminiscences by T. F. Roche, on "Old times in 1880."

THEATRICAL NEWS.

Music Hall.

"Harbeck's Vaudevilles," a strong combination of specialty artists of European and American reputation, will open in Music hall next Monday in that very laughable and interesting burlesque, "The Derby Mascot." The company is headed by William Harbeck, an artist whose peculiar work is the amazement of the medical faculty, who do not seem to be able to solve his secret. The dancers, slugers and acrobats of the combination are the best in their line and are sure to carry the audience by storm. In fact Mr. Chas. A. Taylor, the manager, who has guided many a company through the country, says the success of "Harbeck's Vaudevilles" is almost sensational. The patrons of Music hall have a fine treat prepared for them.

Dracut Democrats Register.

The board of registrars of Dracut will meet at the selectmen's office, Oct. 10, from 3 to 5 p. m.; Oct. 24, from 12 m. to 10 p. m., and at the Bachman hose house at the Navy Yard, Oct 17, from 3 to 5 p. m.

Every democrat in Dracut should see to it that his name is placed on the voting list, in order that he may record his vote in the great November election.

IRELAND'S FLAG

May Float Undisturbed in This Country.

FAMOUS LAWRENCE CASE IS FINALLY SETTLED.

Judge Hopkins' Ruling in the Matter.

Lawrence, Mass., Oct. 1.—Contractor Patrick O'Brien was arrested for displaying an Irish flag on a portion of the staging of the new ward 6 schoolhouse on July 4. As there is a statute forbidding the display of any foreign flag upon a public building, O'Brien was found guilty, and Judge Stone of the police court fined him $10. An appeal was taken to the superior court, and yesterday Judge Hopkins ruled that Ireland had no flag except that of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. The case was accordingly dismissed.

At the trial, Mr. De Courcey, counsel for O'Brien, filed a motion to quash the complaint (1) because Ireland is not a sovereign country within the meaning of the statute; (2) because the statute is unconstitutional; (3) because the complaint does not fully, formally and substantially set forth any offense against the law.

He then addressed himself to the court in support of the motion, and incidentally called the court's attention to the visit of Lord Chief Justice Russell to this country, and inquired what flag should be raised in his honor, the flag of his native place or the flag of Great Britain?

Dist. Atty. White followed and contended that according to the best definition Ireland was a country, and was so recognized.

Judge Hopkins then inquired of Mr. White if he wished him to take judicial notice of any act of parliament establishing the flag of Ireland. To this the district attorney replied that he knew of no such act.

Then the judge said that he could not take judicial notice of what constituted the Irish flag. Said he, "I am inclined to the opinion that the most the legislature intended was to prevent the displaying of a flag of an independent nation. Ireland is not a foreign country within the meaning of the statutes. I must, therefore, sustain the motion to quash."

Thus was ended the flag episode, which caused so much trouble here, and which had the effect of rekindling the dying embers of religious intolerance and race prejudice.

The construction of the law by Judge Hopkins is just the converse of that put on it by Judge A. C. Stone of the local court, and it is the first judicial construction put on the law by a higher court.

FUNERALS.

OSBORN—The funeral of Cora M., the little child of Josiah and Mary Osborn, took place from the home of her parents, 32 Waugh street, yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Rev. O. H. Denney conducted the services and with Mrs. Denney sang appropriate selections. The burial was in the Edson cemetery.

PERSONAL.

Mr. P. S. Marden of the Courier-Citizen staff has resumed his study of legal lore at Harvard law school.

Messrs. David Wallace formerly of the Richardson house and John McLaughlin of Boston are now at the Waverley house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dean of 107 French street are rejoicing over the birth of a twelve pound daughter who arrived last night.

Maguire—Lyons.

The marriage of John Maguire, a popular member of the Burke Temperance institute, and Miss Lizzie Lyons occurred yesterday at the St. Peter's parochial residence, Rev. Fr. Rouan performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Emma Lyons, and the best man was Philip Maguire, a brother of the groom. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the future residence of the happy couple on Powell street where a reception and supper were enjoyed. The Victor Banjo club and a quartet consisting of Messrs. McMahon, Murphy, Mulligan and McCann rendered delightful musical selections during the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Maguire were the recipients of many valuable wedding gifts. They will be at home after October 10.

That Tired Feeling

Makes you seem "all broken up," without life, ambition, energy or appetite. It is often the forerunner of serious illness, or the accompaniment of nervous troubles. It is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is therefore apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember

A DESPERATE BURGLAR

Was Captured at Westford Yesterday—He Used a Black Jack on His Captors.

The burglar arrested by Capt. Moffatt yesterday, who gave his name as Lyman E. Stinson turns out to be George M. Bruce of Shirley and he is said to have a criminal record.

The burglary occurred in Westford Tuesday night the barn of J. Varnum Fletcher being entered and $55 worth of harness stolen. J. Willard Fletcher who sleeps in the barn discovered the theft shortly after it was committed and went for assistance sending William H. Pollock on a bicycle to look for the thief on the Graniteville road.

Pollock soon came up with a man carrying a harness over his shoulder and when he intercepted him the thief struck him over the eye with a black jack knocking him off his feet. Then he shouldered the harness again and rushed to a team he had hidden in the woods.

But Pollock gave chase again, reinforced by Fletcher, and they caught and held their prisoner after a hard struggle.

At the Fletcher barn the prisoner grabbed a gun which was nearby and gave his captors another hard battle.

The Lowell police were notified and at midnight went out to Westford taking Stinson, as he called himself, in charge and shipping him to Ayer in time for court this morning. There he was identified as George M. Bruce of Shirley, who while under arrest once for alleged horse stealing, jumped from the window of a train going at 80 miles an hour. He is 45 years of age.

Bruce was held in $1000 for the grand jury.

FOR CONGRESSMAN,

JOHN H. HARRINGTON of Lowell

The New York Sun is an instance of advanced political parasis.

It is time that the powers should stop threatening and at once proceed to "abolish" the Sultan.

The republican bluff of the 50 cent dollar is played out. It is a piece of transparent bumbug to delude the voters.

The only cry of the republicans is that free silver will bring a 50 cent dollar. They don't attempt to prove the statement.

Mr. Chamberlain asks to be let alone. He does not deserve that privilege of some Americans. The friends of Dr. Gallagher, for instance.

It is important that every democrat should be registered. Any voter knowing any one not registered should constitute himself a committee to bring the man to democratic headquarters.

If the gold standard be maintained, industries will remain paralysed and the industrial conditions will become steadily worse despite the republican panacea of "Confidence," "Confidence."

Republicans deny that gold has appreciated since 1873 although the London Economist recognized as the best authority in the world asserts that it has appreciated nearly 50 per cent in that time.

When silver was demonetized the circulating medium of this country was reduced almost by one-half. Lincoln said that the contraction of the currency is the most heinous crime against the people.

L. C. Bateman of Maine, a member of the people's party, is rallying at Mr. Sewall, presumably because the latter refused to enter into a deal with him before the Chicago convention. Mr. Sewall disregards his scurrilous attacks.

Whoever is responsible for Terence V. Powderly's appearance on the stump needs a flea in his ear. The chances are that Powderly can lose more votes for McKinley than he can gain among the laboring men—Boston Herald.

Right you are as nobody likes a traitor to any good cause.

Republicans say free silver would ruin the workingmen. Why? Because they say it would bring 50 cent dollars which is false. The increased demand for silver combined with the very limited supply would at once bring the silver in a dollar up to 100 cents just as it is today. Then the money kings could not corner all our circulating medium.

It requires a military escort to protect Powderly as he goes on his tour of the country in the employ of Hanna. Powderly has sold out the labor cause, but it is fortunate that the sons of toil cannot be duped. They understand Powderly, they know his treachery, his duplicity. Powderly represents nobody but himself except in the Benedict Arnold style.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

The democratic managers after a careful canvass express themselves as certain of carrying Illinois. Kansas is conceded to Bryan by republicans and Iowa is good fighting ground. The chief difficulty with Hanna is finding where he will get electoral votes enough to leave McKinley on safe ground.

The democrats regard New York as doubtful since the split over Thacher and since D. B. Hill refused to endorse the ticket. But they will have enough to elect Bryan without it.

BRYAN ON "ANARCHY."

If there is one unfortunate thing in connection with the word anarchist as applied to those who are banded together to restore the money of the constitution. Anarchy is a thing not to be considered in a land like this. Anarchy can have no home among the people who have the ballot to right their wrongs. And the unfortunate thing about this campaign is that when the name "anarchist" is applied to the bone and muscle of this country by men who are doing more to overthrow our government than any anarchist who ever carried a red flag. I say that when the word "anarchist" is applied to the toiling millions by men who seek without toil to usurp the fruits and reap the rewards of those who toil, the danger is that it will make the name respectable because of its association.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

TO REDEEM SILVER IN GOLD.

Mr. Bryan Calls Attention to Carlisle's Latest Statement.

Our opponents are doing as much for us in this campaign as we are able to do for ourselves. And of all the public documents recently issued the most important one is the letter just given to the public written by the secretary of the treasury, from which I desire to quote one sentence, "It is the duty of the secretary of the treasury and of all other public officials to execute in good faith the policy declared by congress."

And mark these words, "And whenever he shall be satisfied that the silver dollar cannot be kept equal in purchasing power with the gold dollar except by receiving it in exchange for the gold dollar, when such exchange is demanded, it will be his duty to adopt that course."

I want to mark those words because in those words the secretary of the treasury tells you that whenever the secretary is satisfied that it is necessary he will at once redeem silver dollars in gold. I call your attention to that, my friends, because I want to emphasize the deception that has been practiced by this administration on the money question.

When this administration advised the repeal of the Sherman law, you were told that the repeal of that act would remedy the difficulty. Yet as soon as the Sherman law was repealed the same authority which promised relief as soon as it was repealed came to congress with the demand that greenbacks and treasury notes must be retired by an issue of gold bonds in order to stop the drain upon the treasury's gold. But now the secretary of the treasury informs you that even if the greenbacks and treasury notes were all retired, so that there would not be a dollar of paper money to be presented for gold, yet it would be his duty (whenever, in his opinion, it became necessary) to redeem silver dollars in gold and start another endless chain and drain upon the treasury. According to the doctrine laid down in Mr. Carlisle's letter you cannot stop the drain of gold from the treasury until you retire all the silver dollars and silver certificates and leave nothing but gold as the money of the country.

I am glad that this declaration has been made. I am glad that our opponents are, step by step, revealing to the public eye this heartless, merciless, criminal policy. I am glad that they have told the public that we must have gold alone, and then confessed to the public that we are in the hands of two banking syndicates and must pay them for that gold whatever they want.

Talk about monopolies! Talk about trusts! My friends, they propose to establish the most gigantic of all trusts—a money trust—and let the few men who hold the gold dole it out at such price as they will to all the other 70,000,000 of free born American people. I denounce the policy as more cruel and heartless than political domination of a foreign power. I would rather, as some one has said, put our army in the hands of a foreign general or our navy in command of a foreign admiral than to put the treasury department in the hands of a secretary who would barter it away to a syndicate. I would resist such a financial policy with as much earnestness as I would resist the progress of an invading army coming to attack our homes.

The Republican party offers no protection to the farmers, who constitute the home market of the factory employees. Free silver protects them against Indian wheat and Egyptian cotton.

THE BANKS DISGORGE.

They Give Munificently to the Republican Campaign Fund.

I learned today from an absolutely correct source that very recently large sums of money have been contributed to aid the sound money cause by people who have never before aided a political party.

The banks of Pennsylvania are generally contributing to the campaign fund. Seventy thousand dollars was contributed from Pittsburg banks last week. A percentage on the deposits to a fixed amount was agreed upon. The banks do this on the ground of the necessity of protecting depositors and their stockholders. A number of Philadelphia banking institutions have given $10,000 each.

"The conditions are such as warrant the expenditure," said a contributor to me today. "Ruin would confront us with free silver."

"There will be $1,000,000 contributed in the state of Pennsylvania," said a person to me who knows whereof he speaks. "All the railways in Pennsylvania are in politics. All the horse and electric car lines and almost all aggregations of labor are overwhelmingly prepared in favor of sound money."—William Shaw Bowen in New York World.

Under a gold standard rising in value it will take twice as much of your labor or goods to pay your debt ten years from today as the money you borrowed would buy today.

Fighting For the People.

The Democracy is not warring on capital. It makes no effort to take from anybody what is already his. It simply opposes the efforts of the plutocrats to exact more tribute from the people.—Kansas City Times.

What we want is a dollar that will maintain its parity with the property which that dollar is to buy.—William J. Bryan.

The Rioter and the Patriot.

When a free silver man asks a gold advocate a question, he is dubbed a rioter. When a gold standard man shoots holes in a portrait of Bryan, he is christened a patriot.—Exchange.

Labor's Good Friend.

Mark Hanna's rapid strides as the friend of labor mark him as the logical candidate for Mr. Sovereign's job.—Washington Post (Gold).

CALLED THE SPELLBINDERS

HUMOR OF THE HUSTINGS AS THEY HAVE SEEN IT.

How Moses P. Handy Was Introduced. General Alger's Tearful Typewriter. Senator Carter and the Baby Kissing Candidate's Wife.

"The most amusing experience I ever had in a political campaign," said Major Moses P. Handy, "was in 1884, when Blaine was a candidate for president. I had been invited to speak with Blaine and Beaver at a town in northeastern Pennsylvania. Blaine and Beaver were absent, but I was there. The hall was filled with an enormous audience in anticipation of Blaine's coming, when a telegram was received that the distinguished orators had missed the train.

"The chairman was disappointed, but, having one orator in the person of myself, determined not to lose the opportunity to let the assemblage hear good Republican doctrine. So he got up and began as follows:

"'Gentlemen, we expected to have with us this evening that great Republican, the idol of our party, the Plumed Knight, the Hon. James G. Blaine, our candidate for president'—

"Tremendous applause.

"'But Mr. Blaine could not come. We expected to have with us this evening that gallant veteran than whom no man is dearer to the heart of a Pennsylvanian, the governor of this great commonwealth, Hon. James A. Beaver'—

"More applause.

"'But General Beaver could not come. We expected to have with us this evening that representative of all that is best in Pennsylvania journalism, the eminent editor of the Philadelphia Press, Mr. Charles Emory Smith.'

"More applause.

"'But Mr. Smith could not come. However, gentlemen, we have with us this evening one of the most popular Republicans in Pennsylvania, an eloquent orator, a man known to every one of you, Mr.'—

"And, turning to me, he asked in a voice loud enough for every one to hear:

"'Beg pardon, sir, but what did you say was your name?'"

A Typewriter's Fears.

"My funniest experience," said General Russell A. Alger, "during a campaign was not on the stump, although intimately connected with the stump. I had neglected to prepare my speech, and, thinking it best to jot down a few notes, I went to the stenographer at my hotel and asked her to take my dictation. She asked whether I wanted it taken direct on the machine. I thought that way would be as good as any other and began dictating. She went right ahead, but as I was in the midst of my peroration she burst into tears. I wondered why my eloquence had been so melting and asked what was the matter.

"'Would you mind speaking that all over again?' she said, with eyes full of tears. 'I forgot to put any paper in the machine!'"

Why He Was In Doubt.

"I met an old colored man in my state," said National Committeeman Yerkes of Kentucky, "during a recent campaign, and I asked him for whom he was going to vote.

"'Pears to me it's putty nigh on ter de huntin season,' was his reply.

"'What's that got to do with it, uncle?' I asked him.

"'Dis yere chile needs a new gun putty bad,' he ventured, with a sheepish glance.

"'And what of that, uncle?'

"'I could get a putty good gun for a dollar, and I ain't seed none of de candidates yet, and so I calc'late I dunno who I'ze goin to vote fer.'"

Kissing the Babies.

"I was making a trip through the south," said Senator Tom Carter of Montana, "when I was introduced to the wife of a man who was running for congress. I wanted to be pleasant to her, so in order to start a conversation I inquired:

"'So your husband is running for congress?'

"'Yes,' she replied.

"'I suppose it keeps him pretty busy,' I ventured.

"'Yes,' was the very short reply.

"This rather froze me and somewhat discouraged my attempts to be pleasant, but I came to the front again with what I thought was a humorous remark:

"'I suppose he kisses all the babies in the district.'

"This was unfortunate. She flared up angrily.

"'Don't believe a word of it. He hasn't had time to kiss his own babies for two months.'"

Stole Morton's Speech.

"I am happy to say that I have had no amusing campaign experiences," said Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, who is a candidate for the senate to succeed Voorhees. "Such experiences are usually more amusing to the audience or other people than they are to the person whom the joke is on. I remember a story that is told of Oliver P. Morton and General George Sheridan. The two orators traveled together during one campaign and made speeches jointly. First Morton would speak, and then he would be followed by Sheridan, who was one of the brightest and wittiest orators I have ever heard. Sheridan had a remarkable memory and was very fond of a practical joke. Morton used to write his speeches and trusted chiefly to his notes. During the campaign he delivered the same speech a good many times, and Sheridan had become so familiar with it that he knew it by heart. One day when they went before a meeting Sheridan, whose turn it was to first address the audience, got up and recited Morton's speech word for word, to the dismay of the governor. When it was the latter's turn, he did not know what to say and had to plead illness. It was a long time before Morton forgave Sheridan the trick, and he had to make a solemn promise not to repeat it before Morton would agree to continue their joint tour."—Chicago Times-Herald.

FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE.

A Criminal Cannot Violate His Parole and Flee to Another State.

A question of considerable practical importance in the law of interstate extradition was decided in New Haven recently. A man named Drinkall, who had been sentenced by a court in this state to the Elmira reformatory, was conditionally released from that institution upon his promise of good behavior, in accordance with the statute which permits prisoners to be thus paroled. He violated his parole and went to Connecticut, where he got into prison for criminal fraud. Upon the expiration of his term of imprisonment there a demand was made by the state of New York for his surrender as a fugitive from justice, and this was resisted by means of habeas corpus proceedings in his behalf. After full consideration the Connecticut court decided that Drinkall must be delivered up. In view of the language of our statute concerning paroled prisoners from Elmira, the decision could hardly have been otherwise. One who violates his parole and flees into another state is as much a fugitive from justice as one who breaks out of the reformatory itself.—New York Sun.

OPERA RATE WAR.

It Causes Reduced Prices In the Italian Theaters.

An opera rate war is on in Italy, and spectators are now admitted to some of the most expensive houses at popular prices. The papers have not spared the performers in consequence of the reduced rates, as the following from Italy shows: "For the revival of the 'Lucia' reserved seats in the orchestra were only 25 cents, 20 cents for the parterre and 10 cents for the amphitheater. We cannot say that the cheap performance had artistic merit, but Miss Fornari used her thread of a voice all right, the tenor Prati sang Donizetti's melodies with expression, and the bass Allegri maintained the role well. As for the conductor, he kept his musicians from losing the beat, which is as much as one can expect for 10 cents."—Exchange.

Svengali's Prototype.

For about 12 years Mr. G. Du Maurier resided at New Grove House, Hampstead, and it was here that "Trilby" was written, as was also "Peter Ibbetson." Several of the characters in both books were drawn by Mr. Du Maurier from some of his Hampstead neighbors. Last autumn the author left Hampstead in favor of Kensington, and the house has now been taken by the well known philanthropist, Miss Meeatra, who has turned it into a girls' orphanage. A diligent search is being made in the district for Svengali's prototype.—London Chronicle.

The Bad Boy of Texas.

Texas has a boy burglar who is incorrigible. The boy began his career about two years ago by stealing a cow, which he subsequently traded to a negro woman for half a dozen chickens. Three months ago he stole two horses, for which he was placed in jail, but the pleadings of his mother secured his release. Recently he was caught burglarizing a house. All hopes of reform have now been abandoned, and for his last offense he will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.—Exchange.

Sickness is a burglar who is continually trying to break into human life. His most usual tool is constipation. This one, seemingly unimportant thing is the primary cause of nine-tenths of all human ailments. When the bowels fail to act, impure, poisonous matter is retained in the system, is absorbed by the blood, and carried to every part of the body. All the digestive organs are affected, and particularly the largest and most important of them—the liver. Constipation causes biliousness and bilious headaches; retards digestion in the stomach causing fermentation—sour stomach, flatulency, and feverishness, a feeling of fullness, heart-burn, and other disagreeable symptoms. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They afford immediate relief, but it is not merely a temporary relief. You do not become a slave to the use of the "Pellets." They gradually restore the healthy, natural action of the digestive organs and you may stop using them until some indiscretion in eating again makes them necessary. Doctors are supposed to know more about health and sickness than anybody else, and when the doctor comes, the first thing he does is to find out if the bowels are in good order.

"A Word to the Wise is Sufficient."

The more one knows about health and disease, the easier it is for him to be healthy. Knowledge of some of the simpler laws of health is of the utmost importance to everyone, and everyone may have this knowledge by possessing Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser." This work is a complete medical library in itself. Absolutely free to any one who will send at one-cent stamps, to pay cost of mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. THE STORM KING

Wrought Death and Destruction in South.

SCORES OF LIVES REPORTED LOST.

Florida and Georgia Worst Sufferers.

Memphis, Oct. 1. — A special to The Commercial-Appeal from Jacksonville, Fla., says: It is a conservative estimate to say that 50 people have lost their lives from Tuesday's hurricane, and the number may run much higher. News from that portion of the state where the storm first struck is very slow in coming, for wires are down and railroads are impassable. Wrecking parties which went out yesterday morning have not returned, and it will be tomorrow before the full extent of the damage is known.

The hurricane struck Florida at Cedar Keys, and reports show that it passed in path of destruction over 20 towns and villages, and that between 30 and 40 people have certainly been killed. Cedar Keys is about 100 miles southwest of Jacksonville. The hurricane, which has been churning the water of the Gulf, first struck this place, a village of 1500 inhabitants. The only report which has come concerning Cedar Keys is that the town has been swept away and many lives have been lost. This report comes from Gainesville, which is 50 miles away. Nobody has been able to get anything direct from Cedar Keys. Moving northeasterly, the storm struck Willistown, a small town, where 11 houses were blown down, one person was killed here and several so badly hurt that it is expected that they will die. Near here is a large turpentine farm, on which state convicts are employed. Twenty of these were huddled together in a cabin. A heavy tree was blown across the cabin and six of the convicts were crushed to death.

In Alachua county the storm did frightful work. In Gainesville the Methodist church and about 20 residences and business houses were destroyed, and a number of people were hurt. No fatalities are reported. At La Crosse, 15 bridges were destroyed. Rev. W. A. Barr, Mrs. F. F. McIntosh and her babe are reported killed. Near there four laborers, who were in a cabin at a turpentine farm, were crushed by falling trees. Newburgh, in West Alachua, is totally wrecked. C. J. Eastlin, Mrs. Nancy Moss, Frank Olmstead and David Jones were killed. At High Springs, Melissa Hardin, Jane Morris and Sallie Nobles, colored, are reported to have been killed. At this place a number of people took refuge in a boxcar, which was in the path of the cyclone. It was blown along the track, and then off at a distance of 50 feet, and every person in it was badly hurt. Steve Mason and George Johnson have since died.

At Gracy, a small place, 12 houses were blown down, and a woman was killed, and a baby at her breast was uninjured, although it had been carried some distance by the force of the wind. At Lake Butler, Bradford county, Mrs. C. H. Harkey, Mrs. J. H. Fitch, and her infant were fatally hurt. Many buildings were blown down. At this place the wind blew to pieces two cars loaded with bricks, and a negro was killed by being struck by one of the flying bricks. On Judge Richards turpentine farm, four convicts were killed by falling trees.

In Baker county, four towns were almost totally destroyed. They were McKenny, Sanderson, Glen St. Mary and Olustee. No one was killed outright in these towns, but many were injured, four fatally.

At Live Oak the destruction is complete, but no loss of life is reported.

Near Welborn, the house of Amos White was destroyed, and two of his children killed. At Lake City, eight business houses and 13 houses were destroyed. Three persons were killed and three were fatally injured.

Six persons are reported killed at Fort White, in Columbiana county.

The hurricane passed over Duval county, striking the edges of Jacksonville, but doing very little damage, and there was no loss of life. Just north of here, however, in Nassau county, considerable destruction is reported. Five children were killed in the wreck of a schoolhouse.

At Hilliards, another schoolhouse was wrecked, and four children were killed. At Kings Ferry five persons were killed. Three sailors were killed on schooners that were loading lumber at Kings Ferry.

Across the line, into Georgia, the devastation was continued. At Folkston, which is near the Okefenokee swamp, the schoolhouse was wrecked and four children killed. Several casualties are reported in Camden county, Ga.

The storm then continued on its way to Florida. The losses may seem heavier than when closely examined, but the opinion of the insurance men here, is the Florida losses will foot up $2,000,000. This seems, however, an excessive estimate.

Richmond's Dose.

Richmond, Oct. 1.—The severest storm in the history of the city was experienced here Tuesday night, and yesterday the streets and parks were strewn with debris. The loss to the property will reach a considerable figure, but fortunately there was no loss of life. All of the higher buildings of the city are more or less damaged, and churches were injured in various ways. Many of the large factories had their roofs carried away.

Heavy Damage In Shamokin.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 1.—The damage caused by the cyclone that passed over this section is greater than early reports indicated. It is now thought the total loss will reach $350,000. Fourteen dwelling houses and 20 board shanties, occupied by mine workers, were also blown down, and five of the former were consumed by flames. Two of the tenants were killed, several injured, and 11 head of cattle were crushed to death.

TO STOP AT DONGOLA.

Expedition Will Go No Further Up the Nile During the Present Year.

London, Oct. 1.—It is semi-officially announced that no advance of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition south of Dongola is contemplated during 1896. The whole province of Dongola will be held at Korti and El Dabbeh. Strategic points south of, and on the road to Dongola, will be permanently garrisoned, and gunboats will patrol the river.

In addition, the province of Dongola will be recognized, British-Egyptian administrators will be appointed, a police force will be established, only British troops, with machine guns and gunners will be kept to the front, the railway will be completed to Kaiban, at the last cataract north of Dongola, and the work will be done under the supervision of British engineers. It is further pointed out that further advance at present is impossible, owing to the condition of Egyptian finances.

Laurier Wants an Ablegate.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—A prominent ecclesiastic of Quebec province, yesterday divulged the object of the much discussed visit of Abbe Proul to Rome. It was generally understood that Premier Laurier has a private understanding with Abbe Proul, whereby the latter was to make such representation to the Vatican as would lead to the Quebec hierarchy being compelled to keep out of Dominion politics. The truth is that through Abbe Proul Laurier has asked that a papal ablegate be appointed for Canada. The ablegate would be the vice regent of the pope in this country, and superior in rank to the cardinal archbishop of Quebec.

Scotch Playhouse Burned.

Aberdeen, Oct. 1.—The Palace of Varieties, a playhouse, was burned at the beginning of the performance last night. The performers lost all their property. The audience was thrown into a panic, which threatened disastrous consequences, but no fatality occurred, and only a few persons were burned, though not seriously. Many were trampled and crushed in the rush to get out of the burning edifice, and sustained injuries of more or less gravity. The music hall in the structure was in a state of complete ruin within half an hour after the fire was discovered.

British Warship Afloat.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 1.—H. M. S. Wild Swan is ashore somewhere along the Central America coast, according to reports that have just reached Esquimault, from the south. The particulars are not obtainable, but it is believed that she is in a very dangerous position, at least naval authorities are of that opinion, as the Comus has been ordered south to assist her. The Comus is now being put in readiness for the trip.

Military Protection Asked For.

Prague, Oct. 1.—A serious strike is in progress throughout the coal regions of North Bohemia, due to the incitement of anarchists. Strikers have been marching from pit to pit at Bruex, forcing the miners to stop work, and at Ossegg and elsewhere the strikers are smashing windows or doing other damage, besides intimidating the miners. The managers of the mines have asked for military protection.

Bell Will Go Free.

London, Oct. 1.—The Daily Mail says that the prosecution of Edward Bell, the man arrested at Glasgow on a charge of complicity with Tynan in a dynamite conspiracy, and who was later identified as Edward J. Ivory of New York, will be withdrawn, owing to the failure of the government to secure the extradition of Tynan, Kearney and Haines.

British Revenue Figures.

London, Oct. 1.—The revenue returns for the United Kingdom for the quarter ending yesterday, show a decrease of $1,825,645 compared with the same period of 1895. The decrease was chiefly in excise and customs duties. The returns for the quarter ending June 30 showed an increase of $8,140,250, compared with the same period of 1895.

Short of Meat at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—Owing to the strike on the Canadian Pacific railway, only main line passenger trains are moving, though two freight trains got out yesterday. The company is receiving no perishable freight, and a fruit and meat famine is imminent. The grain rush should be on, and dealers are kicking.

Starving Indians Become Riotous.

Simla, Oct. 1.—Serious rioting has occurred at Delhi in connection with the rise in the price of grain, and the military authorities have been warned by the newspapers to urge prompt government assistance for the poor classes. Grain riots are also reported at Agra, Cawnpur and Nagpur.

Fiasco Predicted.

London, Oct. 1.—The Vienna correspondent of The Times, speaking of the anti-Masonic congress which is being held under Catholic auspices at Trent in the Tyrol, says: The Trent congress promises to be a fiasco. There is small attendance, mostly made up of the clergy.

British In Possession.

Salisbury, Matabeleland, Oct. 1.—The district on the Mazoe river, where there was serious fighting for three days, and where a British force was hemmed in for 10 hours by a strong force of natives, has now been cleared of rebels, and their caves have been blown up.

Jews Burned Out.

Tangier, Oct. 1.—The Jewish quarter of Fez, the principal city of the empire of Morocco, has been burned, and several persons have perished and many have been fatally injured. It is estimated that there are 10,000 Jews in Fez out of a total population of 100,000.

To Plead For Canadian Sealers.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—Sir Charles H. Tupper has been engaged as senior counsel in the Behring sea seizure claims commission by some of the sealing firms of Victoria, B. C., who hold large claims. The commission will meet early in November.

Banquetted by Brethren.

Cork, Oct. 1.—The American and Canadian delegates to the recent Irish convention were tendered a banquet here last night, prior to their departure. All of the local members of parliament were present, except Maurice Healy.

Spain Sure of Her Loan.

Madrid, Oct. 1.—It is denied here that there has been a hitch in the negotiations for a loan to the government of a million of pesetas. On the contrary, it is stated that the loan will shortly be concluded.

BLAME THE JEWS

Three Women Tell Story of Armenia.

SPANISH JEWS MARKED HOMES OF ARMENIANS.

Eight Hundred Killed at Stamboul and Haskeny.

New York, Oct. 1. — Three women, who claim to have been victims of the Turks in the recent massacres at the Golden Horn, are now at Ellis island. They tell a story of the cruelty of the Turks and Kurds that bears out what has already been told in the cable dispatches. Their names are Beizar Malachian, aged 40; Christine, aged 18, and Angele, aged 14. They all speak English, though they are Armenians by birth. The youngest girl tells the story of what her mother, sister and herself claim to have witnessed. The girl also says she speaks Turkish, Armenian, Yeddish, Greek (modern), Syrian, French and English, the latter with a strong Scottish accent. The youngest girl alleges that she was a teacher in the Scottish mission at Constantinople, and when the massacres commenced they were at a village named Haskeny, about three-quarters of an hour by steamer from Stamboul. They had gone there to spend their vacation.

"About four weeks ago," said the girl, "we heard that the Kurds were coming and we all hid away in the cisterns and under the roofs of the houses. My mother, my aunt, my sister and myself were in a cistern for three days. Then the women got out and hid under the tiles of a roof. We next went to the house of an English lady, and from there got away and came to New York. The Turks and Kurds rushed into the houses and killed all the Armenian males they could find. The soldiers used sticks and stones, and beat the men to death. The boys they tied up by the feet, and told the mothers and sisters of them that all males ought to be hanging that way. The soldiers did not touch the women, though they insulted them with words. They said the sultan had so ordered it. When we left the village we had only a slight covering, and our slippers were wet with the blood that ran down the streets. Five hundred males were killed in Haskeny and 300 in Stamboul. The soldiers insulted the American flag, saying that that flag had no savior in that country. The day before the massacre began the Spanish Jews went through the village and put a red mark on the doors of Armenians. Some Armenian young men put red marks on the houses of the Jews, and a lot of them were killed. The Jews are the cause of the trouble to the Armenians. All the property we had they took and destroyed, and they burned up our clothing. The people hid in the churches, but the soldiers followed them and killed the men."

The three women are going to Worcester, Mass., where a son of Mrs. Malachian resides. He works in a factory there.

Many Changes at Harvard.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 1.—Harvard begun its 261st year today, and Cambridge is once more a lively college town. There have been several material changes about the college this summer, notable among them being the remodelling of the entire interior of University hall, for the sole use of the administrative department, and changes in the law school, which afford double shelf capacity in the library, and additional lecture room. There are changes in the curriculum, chief among them being the establishment of two courses in celtic, and for the first time, a course in Russian.

Receiver Fink at the Head.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—At midnight last night the Norfolk and Western railroad, which was organized 15 years ago by Philadelphia capitalists, nominally passed out of existence, and the officers of the reorganized company took possession of all property belonging to the system. Henry Fink, who is acting as one of the receivers, assumed the presidency.

Cottage Home Fight Settled.

Denver, Oct. 1.—Judge Johnson, yesterday, overruled the decision of Secretary of State McGaffey and gave the cottage home emblem, which had been claimed by the so-called "Middle of the Road" Populists, to the regular organization known as the Patterson Populists.

Whitehead Declared Insane.

New York, Oct. 1.—It has been definitely decided that Albert G. Whitehead, the ex-Irish prisoner who has been confined in the insane pavilion at Bellevue hospital for several days, is insane. He was formally committed yesterday to the insane asylum at Amityville, L. I.

Seven Men Lost.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 1.—The sealing schooner M. M. Morrill, from Unaon, Japan coast and Behring sea, bringing news of the loss of seven men from the British cutter Satellite, in Dutch harbor, on the night of Sept. 4, during a storm, has arrived.

Not Known at Washington.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Nothing is known here concerning the London Chronicle's report that the Venezuelan dispute is on the eve of adjustment. If there have been any recent developments they are not on record at the state department.

Insurgents Repulsed.

Madrid, Oct. 1.—Advices from Manila state that the rebels have attempted to invade Batangs, but were repulsed with great loss. Another insurgent band has been defeated at Canilia.

In Interest of Reform.

Milwaukee, Oct. 1. — The National Prison association earnestly requests all clergymen in the United States and Canada to preach a sermon or hold a service on or near Oct. 25 in the interest of prison reform and the prevention of crime. The warden and superintendents of prisons and reformatories, who publish newspapers, are requested to publish a prison Sunday edition early in October, and to circulate it among the clergymen in their respective states.

A Boy Murderer.

Russellville, Ky., Oct. 1.—At Backsville, Harry Allison, a 14-year-old boy, stabbed and killed Bill Draper at a political meeting.

STORM'S DAMAGE

Great Loss of Life and Property.

FROM LAST NIGHT'S WEST INDIANA STORM.

Famous Old Monitor Was Badly Damaged.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30. Last night's storm was one of the fiercest in the history of the state.

At temple station the east house of the Temple foundry was blown down and 12 workmen buried, two of whom were killed and five injured severely.

At Skelton, it is reported the railroad station was blown across the track.

Great damage is reported throughout the Lebanon Valley. The wires are all down and practically no trains are running. At Columbia the loss will reach $1,500,000, the streets being filled with wrecked buildings.

Hurricane in South.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 30.—Three big vessels are reported to have sunk in Brunswick Harbor in last night's hurricane. The famous old gun boat Monitor was torn from her moorings and drifted helplessly about the harbor and is threatened with destruction. It is known that three colored men and a baby were killed in Brunswick.

The hurricane is the worst in the history of the oldest residents of the state. Wires are down and little communication is received from Brunswick, Savanah and Charleston.

News From Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 30.—The West India cyclone which struck here last night equalled any ever known here. The total loss will reach over $1,500,000. Nine fatalities occurred within and about this city.

Big Bridge Demolished.

Lancaster, Pa., Sept. 30.—The wind storm of last night blew down the great bridge over the Susquehanna river at Columbia leaving nothing standing but the piers. It was reported that two men went down with the bridge, but no bodies have been found as yet. The bridge destroyed was 1 1-4 miles in length and was the largest covered bridge in the world. It was built in 1889 at an expense of $1,000,000.

THREE TRAINS COLLIDE

WITH FATAL EFFECT IN NEW YORK.

Demolished Cars Piled Up for Quarter of a Mile—Cars Take Fire and Burn for Several Hours—Brakeman Killed—Engineer Will Die.

Batadia, N. Y., Sept. 30.—A wreck occurred on the Lehigh Valley road, 1 1-2 miles from here in which Brakeman Kimball was killed and Engineer McCarthy fatally injured.

The east bound freight, number 540, at an early hour this morning stopped on the main line near Magara station where the Lehigh Valley road connects with the Peanut division of the New York Central. While it stood there a double header came dashing along and crashed into the rear end of the freight strewing wreckage along the track for quarter of a mile. To add to the disaster a west bound freight piled into the derailed cars of the two trains and its oil cars catching fire started a blaze which continued for several hours.

TWO MEN KILLED

By Contact With Live Wires at Boston and Providence—One a Lineman.

Boston, Sept. 23.—Wallace M. Campbell, aged 36, a lineman while at work on a high pole this morning came in contact with a live wire and fell dead to the ground. He leaves a wife and two children.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 30.—William Elliot, a plasterer's attendant while at work on a roof this morning came in contact with a live wire and was instantly killed.

Four Sailors Drowned.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 30.—The barge Sumatra, consort of the barge B. W. Arnold with a cargo of railroad iron from Chicago to this port foundered off the government Pier today and four sailors were drowned. The captain, mate and cook were saved.

HOT FROM THE WIRE.

A report has reached New York from Kingston by the point steamer Holstein that the entire town of Jocuel has been destroyed by fire leaving 2000 people homeless.

The 500 dock laborers who struck at Hamburg on Monday, returned to work on a compromise today.

NORTH BILLERICA.

Mary M. Sholloo of North Billerica, who rescued a boy from drowning two months ago, has not received a medal from the Massachusetts Humane society yet.

The friends of Miss Nellie Cowdry will be pleased to learn that she has recovered from her illness.

EVIDENCE OF FRAUD

In the Credentials Held by Judge Corcoran.

There seems to be evidence of fraud in the bag of credentials held by Judge Corcoran from the Faneuil hall meeting.

Mr. Corcoran had them counted and found 1412 in all. In addition to this number of bona fide credentials which were presented, and for which tickets of admission to the convention were given out Saturday morning, there were 24 tickets given to delegates who did not present credentials for them.

Arrested For Burglary.

Lyman E. Stinson, aged 45 years, was arrested by Capt. Moffatt for alleged breaking and entering and was taken to Ayer Junction from which place the warrant was issued.

HANNA'S APPEAL

To Catholic Clergymen Has Roused Their Ire.

THEY DECLINE TO JOIN IN PULPITEERING.

Appeal is General Throughout the Country.

The Sun's statement that Hanna's boodle had found its way into church pulpits and that many of the clergymen who are shouting for gold are doing so because paid by Hanna for this pharisaical system of pulpiteering.

The following shows that Hanna has sent his circular to the churches, but he made a mistake in asking Catholic clergyman to take part in a political contest:

New York, Sept. 29.—The gold bug managers, as represented by the so-called "Business Men's National Campaign Committee" of Philadelphia, has committed a huge blunder.

It has sent out a letter to the Catholic clergy soliciting the support of the latter in favor of Boss Hanna's hireling, McKinley.

The letter is very smoothly worded and is a mixture of falsehood, sophistry and bogus piety.

It indulges in cant and crocodile tears to such an extent that its very object is immediately defeated.

Great indignation is expressed in Catholic circles over the incident and without the shadow of a doubt the parties who sent out the letter are guilty of a fatal mistake.

An indignant clergyman has furnished a copy of the letter to Tammany and the latter at once gave it to the press, to illustrate the desperate tactics of the trusts and combines.

ARMENIANS TO DIE

For Complicity in Riots, While Musselmen Get Only 15 Years Imprisonment.

Constantinople, Sept. 30.—Decision of an extraordinary tribunal has sentenced the first Musselman guilty of massacring Armenians to 15 years imprisonment, but it also has sentenced to death a large number of Armenians supposed to be implicated in the riots. One of the condemned was delivered to the Turks by the Belgian minister on condition that he be released, and the minister will now demand his release.

LOCAL NOTES.

Chairman Pearson of the democratic city committee went to New York last night.

Next week will be merchant's week in Nashua and an elaborate program will be enjoyed.

Miss Fannie A. Thompson, who was chosen assistant in Supt. Whitcomb's office, Monday evening, reported for work this morning.

All lovers of hot peanuts will be pleased that F. M. Barney & Co's baker will roast peanuts every afternoon. It is well to keep your eye on this enterprising firm and see what they will do next.

TAXES

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

The assessors have committed to the Collector of taxes the

TAX LIST FOR 1896.

With instructions to collect in the manner prescribed by the Statutes of the Commonwealth, and the Ordinances of the City of Lowell, the sums assessed by them to the persons named therein, and he is now ready to receive payment of said Taxes at his office in City Hall.

When a Poll Tax only is assessed, the Tax is due, and if not paid forthwith, the Collector will proceed to collect the Tax as directed by the General Statutes.

WARRANTS will be promptly issued for the collection of Poll Taxes.

SUMMONS, bearing costs, will be issued against delinquent Poll and Personal Tax Payers on or about November 1st.

INTEREST at the rate of seven per cent per annum will be charged upon all Taxes which remain unpaid October 20, 1896, until the same shall be paid; and such interest shall be added to and considered a part of said taxes. Poll Taxes are assessed on every male inhabitant above the age of 20 years. On undivided real estate each heir is liable for the whole tax. An error in the name of the person taxed does not defeat the collection of the Tax. Each partner is liable for the whole Tax assessed under the partnership name.

The assessors are now distributing Tax Bills. If any ratable inhabitant, by removing his residence since the 1st day of May, or from any cause, should not receive his Tax Bill, he must consider the Tax demanded by this notice, and a new bill will be made out on application at the office of the City Treasurer and Collector of Taxes if a Tax has been assessed.

All who preserve their Tax Bills and bring them when they come to pay, will save the time of making a new bill and facilitate the business of the office.

THE RATE OF TAXATION FOR 1896 IS $15.00 ON $1000.

Office Hours: From 9 o'clock a.m. to 3 p.m.

For the convenience of the Tax paying public the office of the Collector will be open in the evening as follows: Mondays, Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, from Oct. 2 to Oct. 13, inclusive, 7 to 8 o'clock p. m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, from Oct. 10 to Oct. 20, inclusive, from 7 to 9 o'clock p. m.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Parents Object to Limiting Attendance at Kindergartens to Children of Four Years.

The proposition to raise the age of children desiring to enter the kindergarten school from three to four years does not meet with the approval of parents. A Belvidere resident said yesterday that he believed that if the age is raised it will detract considerably from the influence of the school. The younger the children are who take hold and enjoy kindergarten work the better training will their young minds receive. Should the age be raised to four years it will allow a child but one year in the kindergarten.

The attendance reports indicate a falling off in the primary school attendance and an increase in the number of pupils in the grammar schools as compared with last year.

The emergency list of school teachers which aided so well when there was such a demand for teachers last term, is being resorted to again this term.

LABOR'S ENEMIES

Republican Party Has Earned That Title.

PLUTOCRATS ARRAIGNED BY LOCAL LABOR LEADER.

An Interesting Letter From Henry Hamer.

Mr. Editor:—I have felt somewhat reluctant about entering in to this campaign in an active manner owing in a measure to the depressing influence of enforced idleness and to the fact that the question which confronts us is so great and complicated that it behooves all laboring people to study carefully before committing themselves.

The money question was a question that we as a class knew least about of the other political questions of the day. But this much we do know, that money is the great essential, the great motive power, that lies at the bottom of all business and industrial pursuits, and the success and prosperity of all nations depends to a great extent on how much money they they possess and how they handle it. We are taught that there are different kinds of money and different standards of value; these standards being devised by what they call financial experts on what we would more appropriately term the sharks of finance, and are adopted from time to time by the different governments. The experience of the civilized world teaches us conclusively that the evils of the money system are not so much with the kind of money we use as they are with the individuals who make it their business to handle it. The powers of these men are great as it is on them that the prosperity of the country depends. This fact has never until recently been brought home to the toiling millions. Protection versus free trade was the cry of the parties and the everlasting question of the day. But now we are beginning to find out that the masses need some change that will be deeper and more far-reaching in its effect upon their future welfare than either of those old and played out issues and they begin to see and believe that what is called bimetallism is just what they need and what they have been looking for, as it will act as a curb on the selfish greed of the handlers of money by opening the mints for the coinage of silver thereby creating a more plentiful supply of currency and consequently breaking the power that is held by the monopolizers of gold.

The great men of all parties now admit that the cause of the hard times is shortage of gold, our government not having sufficient of the yellow metal to meet the expenses of government without encroaching upon the usual limit of the gold reserve in the treasury and the consequence is, according to the logic of Tom Reed that a lack of confidence sets in and causes a shortage of business and a commercial panic. Well, the great point is, how is this to be remedied? And again we have the great men or leaders of the party agreeing on the same remedy.

All agree upon the nature of the cure for our financial ill, but not upon the time or mode of prescribing. The republican party under the leadership of McKinley is confident of the disease that the country is suffering from and of the drug that would be likely to cure the trouble, but are unwilling to administer the same without the aid and consent of foreign physicians; while the democratic party—the party that is in touch with the greater number of the people, knowing and realizing that they are the greater sufferers, and confident of the efficacy of the cure, are more than anxious under the leadership of the able and heroic William J. Bryan, to administer and to render the patient immediate relief and that without waiting for the advice, aid, or consent of the foreigners. Because they are taking this view of the case the working classes are told by the republicans that if they will submit to the taking of the dose of bimetallism in this fashion it will result in certain death, although it is the same medicine that they advocate themselves. Where is the consistency of such reasoning? The people are now more than ever on the alert to their interests and welfare and will not heed the false and inconsistant reasoning of the teachers and followers of foreign gods.

The workingman need not expect the republican party to come to his relief, for as a party it is undoubtedly wedded to the interests of the few—the friend of the syndicate and trust, the believer in the doctrine of privilege, monopoly and plutocracy. Hence, it would be as reasonable to expect to gather grapes of thorns or figs, of thistles as the workingmen to hope or expect to gain anything of real value from them.

The Chicago platform is imbued with the true principles of democracy. There is not a plank in it that is tainted with the breath of plutocrcy. It is another bill of rights that the plain people demand, and they should not hesitate for a moment to give it their logical and undivided support. Let them not follow the example of the would-be leaders, of labor who sacrifice their principles and their manhood and their trust for notoriety's sake and for the pleasure of eating cheese and crackers with the servants of the enemy. The effect of the success of the Chicago platform on the people will be so great that it is referred to as the coming revolution, and the campaign is likely to be the hottest that has ever taken place. Principalities and powers—the hosts of greed and might, the money changers, and worshippers of the Golden Calf have all gathered in battle array to do battle against the interests and rights of those who are born poor and of low degree and who must earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. They will make a desperate effort with the aid of their riches to keep the toilers and spinners subservient to them.

There is no doubt that it will be a battle indeed, and in truth, between the classes and the masses. On which side should the wage earner be found? Will he be found fighting in the lines of the enemy, with Mark Hanna for leader—the man that has always proven to be the foe of the laborer and the friend of the plutocrat? No! It cannot be that the sons of toil will be forever blind to their own interests and be led astray again to follow the trail of those who live and grow rich upon the sweat of labor and the groan of industry. Workingmen, consider your interests by studying this question. Don't be scared by big shot-downs or any other trick of the enemy. Let Arkwright club and all other clubs of the same nature see that their day has gone by and the reign of democracy is at hand.

One of the men who went to see Bryan at the Northern depot, Saturday, and lost his pocket-book, is reported to have said that he will not vote for Bryan under any circumstances.

There is a club in this city organized just to make life pass as pleasantly as possible and it is called the Moose club. Recently a paper in speaking of it, referred to it as the "Booso" club, and the friends of the members insist that the compositor made no mistake with the "B" but did with the "s."

As B. and S clubs are becoming quite frequent all over the country, it might be well to explain that the letters are abbreviations of Bryan and Sewall and not the other B. and S.

TURF NEWS.

The season is not going to slip away without a final series of races for the entertainment of Lowellians after all, for the French-Canadian club and Frank Harris have arranged for an elaborate meeting to be held at the Wannalancit trotting park on Oct. 8, 9, 10, at which from all accounts some good racing will be enjoyed. Wannalancit park has not had any races this year, but has been used all summer and the track consequently is in fine condition.

On Thursday there will be a 2.34 class for a purse of $100, and a 3 minute class for a similar purse.

On Friday a 2.40 class, trot or pace as are all others, for $100 will be held besides a special, free-for-all race for a similar purse. Then beside these a running race for a purse of $75 will be enjoyed.

The events on the closing day will consist of 2.50 and 2.25 class races for $100 each.

The Pawtucket Club.

At the residence of Mr. Peter McGuire on Willis avenue Tuesday night several of Ward seven's well-known young men met and formed a permanent social club to be known as the Pawtucket club. The club will be independent politically. The following named officers were elected: President, Geo. Leonard; vice president, M. J. Howard, financial secretary, Arthur B. MATRIMONIAL.

Miss Catherine J. Tompkins and Mr. Charles L. Boutillier, both well known young people of this city, were united in marriage at the church of the Immaculate Conception last evening. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Joyce, O. M. I., and it was witnessed only by a few of the relatives and friends of the young couple. The bride looked charming in a beautiful dress of white silk trimmed with white chiffon, while her sister, Miss Helen Tompkins, who acted as bridesmaid, wore white muslin. Mr. George Hayes was best man and the ceremony was most impressive.

At its close, the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, 484 Rogers street, where, at 7 o'clock, a reception was held.

Macauley-Parlee.

The little Episcopal church in Chelmsford Centre was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Mr. George K. Macauley of Brookline and Miss Ella J. Parlee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Parlee of this city, were united in marriage.

The church was very handsomely decorated with plants and flowers and white festoons, and it was a most beautiful place for the wedding of two popular young people. About 60 friends of the contracting parties were present. Rev. Mr. Waters performed the ceremony.

Browne-Halo.

George Browne of Boston and Miss Emma L. Halo of this city, were united in marriage at the Central Methodist church parsonage on Eleventh street, yesterday afternoon, by Rev. C. E. Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Browne will live in West Medford.

BASE BALL.

Since the announcement yesterday that the South Ends and Emeralds are to play for the championship of the city at the Fair grounds next Saturday, the cranks are around and are again discussing the national game and the merits of the players of both teams.

It grieved them somewhat to have the league championship go out of town and they disliked to see the best season in the history of base ball since '87 go into history without deciding which of the city teams holds the title of championship. Hence they are pleased at the prospect of Saturday's game and will be out in large large numbers.

It is estimated that the game will be one of the best attended of the season and it will also be a hot game, for it's the old-time rivalry between the North and South commons over again with the best players from each ballwick on the team from that end of the city.

Scott, who will pitch for the Emeralds, is in fine form, while Moore, who will probably play with the South Ends, is not by any means out of condition.

An interesting side issue at the game will be the 100 yards dash between Andrew Rourke of the Emeralds, who is an all-round athlete, and Billy Luby, the professional short distance sprinter, who claims the championship of Lowell and who challenges any runner in the city. Both men are training and are doing 11 seconds, their friends claim, and their race promises to be as hot as the ball game. The fun starts at 2.30 o'clock.

Billy Merritt the National League catcher of this city has returned home after the season and will umpire the game at the Fair grounds on Saturday.

Banner Lodge Deceased.

Banner lodge, I. O. G. T., has followed in the wake of Pride of Lowell lodge and has surrendered its charter. There are now four lodges in the city, Eirene, Mt. Zion, Thistle and Flora E. Stacey.

Is an expressive remark. It means a great deal. It is often heard when certain hats do not meet public approval. We are thankful to say it has never been made about any hat we have ever sold. Circulars containing a description of Olive Book, who left her home on Bachman street, Saturday, will be sent to the police throughout the country. Nothing has yet been heard from the girl.

TWO BOYS ARRESTED.

Believed to Have Entered Several Stores in Centralville.

Clement Ducharme, aged 19 years, was arrested on Lakeview avenue at 9 o'clock last evening by Inspectors Allen and Laflamme and Officer Frank Fox. Edward Perrin, aged 17, and Alfred Latoulite, aged 18, were arrested early this morning in Collinsville by Inspectors Allen and Laflamme and Captain Moffat, after a long search.

The boys are charged with breaking and entering stores in Centralville.

Silver to Burn.

A messenger of the American Express company dropped a bag containing about $40 in loose silver coin on Middlesex street and recovered only $27 of it. A 15-year-old lad was found later at the Music hall entrance distributing money and was arrested.

Clerk Smith Returns.

Clerk Joseph Smith of the police board returned to his office this morning after a pleasant trip to Montreal, Three Rivers, Quebec and other points of interest beyond the line.

Our Kitchen

No kitchen is kept cleaner than the premises devoted to the manufacture of NONE SUCH Mince Meat. No housewife can be more fastidious in the matter of preparing food than we are in the selection and preparation of the materials of which it is made. The cleaning of the currants (for one thing) is more thoroughly done by means of perfected appliances, than it would be possible to do it by hand.

Its cleanliness, purity, wholesomeness and deliciousness are good reasons for using NONE SUCH Mince Meat. The best reason is its saving—of time, of hard work, of money. A ten cent package affords you two large pies, without trouble to you beyond the making of the crust. Makes just as good fruit cake and fruit pudding as it does mince pie. Sold everywhere. Be sure and get the genuine.

Send your name and address, and mention this paper, and we will mail you free a book—"Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving"—by one of the most famous humorous authors of the day.

Marriage Intentions.

The only intention recorded at the city clerk's office today today, was Ovide Ange 18, to Rosanna Heroux 20.

A Pretty Sight.

The Imperial Cloak and Suit store at the corner of Merrimack and Bridge streets does not lay claim to having the largest store in the city but it would be hard to find any prettier display of cloaks, capes and suits than are shown in this cosy little store. Mr. Dragon, the proprietor, has a peculiar neck of trimming his window to attract attention and his skill is not only displayed in the window trimming but within the store and a person who will call at this place of business will surely speak words of praise for the pretty appearance of the display. The store is trimmed with wild flowers and foliage and autumn leaves making a beautiful effect. Their grand opening is to continue the rest of the week. Every lady should call at the corner of Bridge and Merrimack street, at the Imperial Cloak and Suit store.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Heads Its State Ticket With Wolcott and Crane.

Declarations Made For McKinley and St. Louis Platform—No New Issues Are Presented in Platform Which Makes Hypocritical Stand For Freedom of Ballot—Interesting Reference to Democracy and Supreme Court.

Boston, Oct. 1.—Not in many years has the list of delegates to the Republican state convention included so many Republicans of prominence, not only in the state, but in the nation, as this year. Nearly all the congressmen are delegates, most of the living ex-governors, and other high officials and ex-officials in political life.

ROGER WOLCOTT.

The arrangements for the convention were exactly like those of last year. The delegates sat in the hall as they did in 1895, by counties, and the convention was called to order by Chairman George H. Lyman of the state committee, who made a speech in so doing, and started the flow of eloquence.

General William F. Draper of Hopedale presided permanently, and discussed the issues confronting the country. Congressman William H. Moody of Haverhill read the platform, as chairman of the committee on resolutions.

For months the only question about make-up of state ticket has been the nominee for lieutenant governor and caucuses of two weeks ago practically determined the success of Hon. Murray Crane of Dalton for that office notwithstanding threats of Winslow's followers to carry contest into convention. There was little doubt in the minds of the delegates as to the result. Acting Governor Wolcott and other active state officers were only candidates in the field.

Music Hall was tastefully decorated, large portraits of McKinley and Hobart forming conspicuous feature. The band stationed balcony enlivened early hours with patriotic airs, while the presence of a large number women made the scene one of brilliancy.

Hon. J. Q. A. Brackett nominated Wolcott and President George P. Lawrence of North Adams, nominated Crane.

Nomination of Wolcott was made by rising vote. The contest of the day opened when nominations for lieutenant governor were called for. President Lawrence of the state senate nominated Crane in rousing speech and Congressman Walker of Worcester named Col. Winslow. Both men were cheered, but the sentiment was plainly in favor of Crane. Balloting at once began.

The electoral ticket elected: At large, Hon. J. Q. A. Brackett and Hon. W. H. Haile. By districts, 1st, Franklin Carter, Williamstown; 2, A. H. Coolidge, Athol; 3, A. T. Whiting, North Bridge; 4, C. H. Moulton, Waltham; 5, Jos. Miller, Lowell; 6, Smith, Gloucester; 7, E. W. McCroy, Lynn, Mass.; 8, L. O. Fuller, Cambridge; 9, Peter Morrison, Boston; 10, J. C. Cobb, Milton; 14, W. H. Powers, Hyde Park; 12, H. A. Thomas, Weymouth; 13, Edmund Anthony, Fairhaven.

Crane was nominated by a vote of 1347 to 588.

The balance of the ticket is as follows:

For secretary of state, William M. Olin of Boston.

For treasurer and receiver general, E. P. Shaw of Newburyport.

For auditor, John W. Kimball of Fitchburg.

For attorney general, Hosea M. Knowlton of New Bedford.

Following is the platform adopted:

The Republicans of Massachusetts, assembled the second time within the year, have neither past professions to abjure nor new principles to announce. It is our good fortune that the beliefs we have always maintained will serve the people in this day of national peril.

As of old we favor:

A sound monetary system, a stable monetary unit, and the scrupulous observance in the letter and spirit of every public obligation.

The enactment of tariff laws which will provide revenue adequate for the payment of the national expenditures and the gradual reduction of the national debt, promote the policy of reciprocity, protect American industries and American workmen, and preserve our own markets to our own people.

The selection of officials in the state and national civil service by the test of merit, with every preference to the veteran soldiers of the republic which the provisions of the constitution and the efficiency of the public service will permit.

The right of every voter in the land to cast the ballot his conscience approves, free from coercion by violence or vexation, by any influence except that of free and open argument, and his and the public right to have that ballot counted as it is cast.

We commend the wise and honest conduct of affairs of the commonwealth which prevails under Republican power and responsibility.

While leaving to our representatives in the general court the greatest liberty of judgment and action, yet recalling our declaration made three years ago, we especially enjoin upon them to grant public franchises only after the most rigid scrutiny, and with every safeguard for the public interests. We believe that all corporations enjoying public franchises, and exercising public employments, under conditions which necessarily confer upon them a virtual monopoly, should be compelled by law to render service to the public for a reasonable return upon the actual investment, and not upon a fictitious capitalization.

The Republican party does not claim for itself the exclusive guardianship of our system of compulsory education, which receives the devotion of all. Of this system, the very essence is the unsectarian school, supported by the public purse, which invites to its instruction all the children of our people. Its benefits were never more manifest than today, and we pledge to it our constant and unwavering support.

We endorse the platform adopted by the national Republican convention at St. Louis.

But the duty of this hour demands something more than the restatement of the articles of our party creed. Mindful of the utterances of those who gathered at Chicago, under the name of Democracy, we are conscious that the success of our cause means more than the determination of party ascendency, and that we have the right to appeal to a broader constituency than the membership of the Republican party.

We denounce the voice of sectionalism, resurrected from the tomb where we supposed it lay buried forever. Massachusetts' patriotism can see beyond the confines of a section, and hold as precious as her own the just interests of all parts of the Union. We are steadfast in our principles, not because they will promote our own fortunes, to the injury of those who dwell elsewhere, but because we believe that in their success lies the welfare of all the people in the land.

As Republicans, and as Americans, we regret the spirit and tendency of the platform adopted at Chicago. We especially condemn its advocacy of the free coinage of silver, its covert threat against the supreme court, and its denial of the supremacy of the national laws.

Upon these questions, which touch the nation's honor and life, we will not be misunderstood.

We record again our unalterable opposition to the free and unlimited coinage of silver by this country alone, and our determination to maintain the existing gold standard of values, in the absence of any international agreement. We believe that the free and unlimited coinage of silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1 by this country alone, would result in a national disaster, from which no one would escape. If here and there, there is one whose selfish interest would seem to be promoted by the depreciation of our standard of values, let him be assured that the little which he might gain would be swallowed up in his share of the universal calamity. The radical change in the purchasing power of our dollar, which would be the inevitable result of the free coinage of silver, would be disastrous to the wage-earner and capitalist, creditor and debtor alike, would entail incalculable loss upon the industries and commerce of our country, and arrest, for an indefinite time, the development of our resources.

Every man has the right to criticize the opinions of the courts of justice as he will, to refuse to accept the rule of decision as the final expression of the law, and to hope and to strive for its reversal. But we believe that the appeal of the Chicago convention to the supreme court, "as it may hereafter be constituted," contains, and scarcely conceals the purpose of controlling its judgments by adding to the number of its justices. As thus understood, we denounce this declaration as a threat to degrade to an instrument for the registration of party edicts the independent tribunal established by the fathers, not only for the administration of justice, but as well for the preservation of our constitution, and the protection of the reserved rights and liberties of the American people.

The nation has no authority to protect any state against mere domestic violence, except upon the call of the state, but the President of the United States, in pursuance of his constitutional obligation to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed," has the right and duty to protect the property of the United States from injury or destruction, and maintain its laws against all resistance, from whatever quarter it may come, and this to do anywhere and everywhere where the American flag flies over American soil. The right denied by the Chicago platform was asserted by Lincoln, approved by Douglas, and sanctified by the blood shed in the Civil War. Through its exercise, the union of the states was preserved. We must maintain it, and transmit it unimpaired to the generations yet to come.

To the defense of these principles we summon all Republicans, and invite all others who believe them to be essential to the preservation of the nation's honor, the continuance the of general welfare, the integrity of our constitution and the supremacy of the nation, where, by right, it is supreme.

Never was better cause than ours, and never was cause committed to a purer, abler or more patriotic leader than William McKinley. To the cause and the leader we pledge a support which shall be loyal to the end.

The rigid enforcement of existing laws in restriction of immigration, and their extension by adding to the excluded classes those who are unable to read and write their own or the English language, in the hope that thus the standard of American living and the quality of American citizenship may be preserved.

We disapprove all appropriations from the public money for sectarian purposes or sectarian institutions, and we urge that this principle be applied with exact impartiality, believing that thus the equality of all forms of religion before the law and the freedom of conscience, which the constitution secures, may be best conserved.

ADVISORY BOARD

Said to Have Arranged Recent Meeting

AT WHICH ALDERMAN WILSON WAS BOOMED.

Other Political News of Local Interest.

Editor of the Lowell Daily Sun:

Noticing a communication in your last issue of your valuable paper from "A Voter of Ward Eight," and your reply to the same, I take the liberty to enlighten the Sun and also the Ward Eight voter. The republican meeting, so called, was brought together by the advisory board of the "A. P. A.," to find out the feelings of the members of the organization in regard to a candidate for mayor. The chairman of the meeting and others finding that the hall was packed with republicans and democrats who did not belong to the order, decided to make it an open republican meeting. For a request was made at the commencement of the meeting to find out if all present were entitled to sit in the hall. Alderman Wilson certainly made the statement as quoted, he undoubtedly thinking that all were A. P. As. present. In regard to the A. P. A. being dead the outlook is that it is very much alive and the only division is Joe Miller or John Wilson. Now, Mr. Editor, let Mr. Wilson state where he is at and if he is in sympathy with the order. Mr. Miller, we all know, and it will be to Alderman Wilson's benefit to state the truth. Z. Y. X.

The following is the invitation sent out:—

Dear Sir and Friend:

There will be a special meeting in Runels' hall building, Monday evening, Sept. 28th, at 8 o'clock.

You are earnestly requested to be present as business of importance and of personal interest to you will come up for action. Per order

COMMITTEE.

John C. Wilson was boomed again last night. His friends to the number of fifty gathered at the American house and told him that he is the man to save the city and lead the republican cause to victory.

Amiable John took in all the talk and then commenced to believe that these boomers really meant what they said. By this time the wheels commenced to move vigorously and one man said that Mr. Wilson could unite the party and that no man could defeat him.

Among those present at the meeting were ex-Mayor Pickman, ex-Alderman Dunlap, Councilmen W. E. Badger, Sidney Drewett, George W. Hartwell and Fred A. George, and Major M. G. Perkins, A. G. Stiles and W. A. Lang.

Putnam Nominated.

George E. Putnam was formerly placed in nomination as the republican senatorial candidate from the Seventh district, last night. The convention was held in the republican city committee headquarters. Joseph Miller was chairman and Harry E. Murray, secretary. On motion of Geo. E. Roper, Mr. Putnam was nominated by acclamation.

Mr. Putnam made a speech of acceptance, and was followed by Chairman Poore of the republican city committee, who made a plea for J. Henry Read for county commissioner.

The Sixth district Democratic Congressional committee met at headquarters yesterday and organized with James F. Owens of this city, chairman, and Thomas Fox of Woburn, secretary. John H. Harrington addressed the committee and plans of campaign were discussed.

The democratic councillor convention will be held in Jackson hall on October 5th.

The gold democrats in Chelmsford are very scarce. These believers in the yellow metal intended to have a rally last night and engaged the town hall. When 8 o'clock arrived there were three men in the hall and so no rally was held.

Bryan Does the Square Thing.

The Fitchburg Sentinel, a republican paper has the following:

Mr. Bryan does the square thing in reference to the burning of W. H. Burns' building in Worcester, Saturday night when he says that he does not believe any silver advocate would do Mr. Burns or his property any harm, and that no political reason can excuse an attack on person or property. It may be shown later that an enemy of Mr. Burns took advantage of the excitement caused by the decorations of the building and that fire was not the work of any political opponents of Mr. Burns.

Following is a communication received at this office:

Editor of Sun:

I enclose to you a card with which the employees of the B. & M. R. R. are being bombarded. Many of the employes consider it a species of intimidation which is being employed by McKinley's agent, Hanna. Many are signing it, but wait until they vote. "Oh, what a surprise there will be in the morning."

Respectfully,
AN EMPLOYE,
B. & M. R. R.

Following is a copy of the card:

, 1895.

JOHN E. SHEEDY, Esq., Sec'y B & M. Gold Club,
Room 10, Union street, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

Please enroll my name as a member of the Boston & Maine Gold Club, in the interest of Sound Money.

Name . . . . . .
Occupation . . . . . .
Address . . . . . .

No charge for membership will be made but any voluntary subscriptions may be sent to George P. Wood, Treas., Union Station, Inward Baggage Room.

It would thus appear that if the company is not responsible for this movement it at least connives at it as a species of republican intimidation.

Since July 1, 163 naturalization papers have been taken out, but some of them represent the first papers.

The democratic county convention has been called to meet in Cambridge on Thursday of next week.

The Twentieth Century Girls met last night and received their uniforms. They will require about 20 more, so that the company will number eventually nearly 100 young men.

Col. Chadwick will be chief marshal of the parade preceding the Pilling flag raising tomorrow night.

Democrats should remember that the registrars will be in session today, tomorrow and Saturday from 1 to 2 in the afternoon, and 7 to 9 in the evening. Bring your tax bills with you, and if you are a naturalized voter, be sure you bring your naturalization papers to show to the registrars.

Every democrat should attend the primaries called for tonight to choose representative candidates. The candidates are all bright, clean young men, and the contests in all the wards are good-natured, nothing of a personal character entering into them. The men who win will have the united support of their defeated rivals. Let every voter turn out, record a big vote and encourage the young men. The influence of a large caucus is considerable and creates an enthusiasm bound to result beneficially to the candidates and the party.

William J. Bryan has covered more ground, and made more speeches than all the other democratic presidential candidates, since 1860, combined.

After tonight's caucuses there will be several councilmanic booms launched.

From the Lawrence Sun: We regret that Judge Corcoran and T. J. Gargan have placed themselves in a position to be buffeted about by such adverse political winds. Still, as they have deliberately chosen their course on the troubled sea they have only themselves to blame for ensuing results.

Thomas M. Harrigan, the No. Billerica candidate for the legislature, was in town today confident of his success, this evening.

The hot fight this evening will be in Ward Five between Messrs. Joseph F. Donohoe, J. Joseph O'Connor and Wm. F. Curtin, for representative.

It is the talk in political circles that the Hon. George Fred Williams will ask Acting Governor Wolcott to discuss with him the issues of the campaign, including the money question, and the proposition to have biennial elections in this state.

An effort will be made to have the discussion assume the form of a joint debate. Although Mr. Williams' plan of campaign is not definitely decided upon, it is quite certain that he will make a vigorous attack upon county rings and the extravagance of republican administration.

The acting governor intends to stump the state from Berkshire to the Cape. It will be a short campaign and it will open officially Oct. 7 at Music hall, when Thos. B. Reed will be the speaker of the evening.

Treasurer Harry J. Jaquith of the Bryan-Sewall-Williams club acknowledges the receipt for the family of James Hughes of the following sums:

Previously acknowledged	$240.00
Philip J. Doherty	5.00
Linwood S. Pratt	5.00
Daniel J. Gallagher, Newton	5.00
A Friend, Brookline	5.00
John H. Harrington, Lowell	5.00
Total	$265.00

Police Court—Hadley, J.

The dock in police court was crowded this morning.

Judge Hadley had quite a number of drunks to dispose of.

Elizabeth Hall got six months at the state farm; Peter Kelley was sent to jail for four months; Robert Hall received three months at the same place, and to kind of balance things Joseph Paledo was sent to the workhouse to spend 20 days.

Fred Latulippe, Clement Duchesne and Edward Perrin were charged with breaking into the shop of L. M. Golden. The first two were held in $500 each for the Superior court and the third was continued till tomorrow.

Maurice Hannafin and Powell Ray had a "mutual" disagreement on Broadway yesterday and it cost each one of them $9 this morning. Several continued cases were called for trial.

Very Attractive.

Merrimack street has still another beautiful store to the list. The latest is the millinery establishment of Niblock Bros. The store formerly owned by Rose A. Jordan has been transformed in such a manner that only the location of the former store would be known. Mr. Niblock has practically had the entire building rebuilt and today has opened up to the public one of the largest and neatest millinery establishments in the state. In connection with the millinery business they will in the future keep a full line of ladies' furnishing goods. The grandeur of this establishment is something worth going miles to see so we will not attempt to go into detail in describing the store, but will say that today, Friday and Saturday are opening days and every one is welcome.

Rev. Park A. Bradford addressed a largely attended silver rally in Lawrence last evening and the Sun of that city comments upon his remarks as follows;

"Rev. Park A. Bradford's address in this city last evening was a notable contribution to the many excellent ones already delivered here in favor of Bryan and Sewall. We hope to hear the reverend gentleman again."

Maguire—Lyons.

The marriage of John Maguire, a popular member of the Burke Temperance Institute, and Miss Lizzie Lyons occurred yesterday at the St. Peter's parochial residence, Rev. Fr. Ronan performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Emma Lyons, and the best man was Philip Maguire, a brother of the groom. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the future residence of the happy couple on Powell street where a reception and supper were enjoyed. The Victor Banjo club and a quartet consisting of Messrs. McMahon, Murphy, Mulligan and McCann rendered delightful musical selections during the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Maguire were the recipients of many valuable wedding gifts. They will be at home after October 10.

That Tired Feeling

Makes you seem "all broken up," without life, ambition, energy or appetite. It is often the forerunner of serious illness, or the accompaniment of nervous troubles. It is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is therefore apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember

JOHN H. HARRINGTON of Lowell

The New York Sun is an instance of advanced political paresis.

It is time that the powers should stop threatening and at once proceed to "abolish" the Sultan.

The republican bluff of the 50 cent dollar is played out. It is a piece of transparent bumbug to delude the voters.

The only cry of the republicans is that free silver will bring a 50 cent dollar. They don't attempt to prove the statement.

Mr. Chamberlain asks to be let alone. He does not deserve that privilege of some Americans. The friends of Dr. Gallagher, for instance.

It is important that every democrat should be registered. Any voter knowing any one not registered should constitute himself a committee to bring the man to democratic headquarters.

If the gold standard be maintained, industries will remain paralysed and the industrial conditions will become steadily worse despite the republican panacea of "Confidence," "Confidence."

Republicans deny that gold has appreciated since 1873 although the London Economist recognized as the best authority in the world asserts that it has appreciated nearly 50 per cent in that time.

When silver was demonetized the circulating medium of this country was reduced almost by one-half. Lincoln said that the contraction of the currency is the most heinous crime against the people.

L. O. Bateman of Maine, a member of the people's party, is railling at Mr. Sewall, presumably because the latter refused to enter into a deal with him before the Chicago convention. Mr. Sewall disregards his scurrilous attacks.

Whoever is responsible for Terence V. Powderly's appearance on the stump needs a flea in his ear. The chances are that Powderly can lose more votes for McKinley than he can gain among the laboring men—Boston Herald.

Right you are as nobody likes a traitor to any good cause.

Republicans say free silver would ruin the workingmen. Why? Because they say it would bring 50 cent dollars which is false. The increased demand for silver combined with the very limited supply would at once bring the silver in a dollar up to 100 cents just as it is today. Then the money kings could not corner all our circulating medium.

It requires a military escort to protect Powderly as he goes on his tour of the country in the employ of Hanna. Powderly has sold out the labor cause, but it is fortunate that the sons of toil cannot be duped. They understand Powderly, they know his treachery, his duplicity. Powderly represents nobody but himself except in the Benedict Arnold style.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

The democratic managers after a careful canvass express themselves as certain of carrying Illinois. Kansas is conceded to Bryan by republicans and Iowa is good fighting ground. The chief difficulty with Hanna is finding where he will get electoral votes enough to leave McKinley on safe ground.

The democrats regard New York as doubtful since the split over Thacher and since D. B. Hill refused to endorse the ticket. But they will have enough to elect Bryan without it.

BRYAN ON "ANARCHY."

There is one unfortunate thing in connection with the word anarchist as applied to those who are banded together to restore the money of the constitution. Anarchy is a thing not to be considered in a land like this. Anarchy can have no home among the people who have the ballot to right their wrongs. And the unfortunate thing about this campaign is that when the name "anarchist" is applied to the bone and muscle of this country by men who are doing more to overthrow our government than any anarchist who ever carried a red flag. I say that when the word "anarchist" is applied to the toiling millions by men who seek without toil to usurp the fruits and reap the rewards of those who toil, the danger is that it will make the name respectable because of its association.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

TO REDEEM SILVER IN GOLD.

Mr. Bryan Calls Attention to Carlisle's Latest Statement.

Our opponents are doing as much for us in this campaign as we are able to do for ourselves. And of all the public documents recently issued the most important one is the letter just given to the public written by the secretary of the treasury, from which I desire to quote one sentence, "It is the duty of the secretary of the treasury and of all other public officials to execute in good faith the policy declared by congress."

And mark these words, "And whenever he shall be satisfied that the silver dollar cannot be kept equal in purchasing power with the gold dollar except by receiving it in exchange for the gold dollar, when such exchange is demanded, it will be his duty to adopt that course."

I want to mark those words because in those words the secretary of the treasury tells you that whenever the secretary is satisfied that it is necessary he will at once redeem silver dollars in gold. I call your attention to that, my friends, because I want to emphasize the deception that has been practiced by this administration on the money question.

When this administration advised the repeal of the Sherman law, you were told that the repeal of that act would remedy the difficulty. Yet as soon as the Sherman law was repealed the same authority which promised relief as soon as it was repealed came to congress with the demand that greenbacks and treasury notes must be retired by an issue of gold bonds in order to stop the drain upon the treasury's gold. But now the secretary of the treasury informs you that even if the greenbacks and treasury notes were all retired, so that there would not be a dollar of paper money to be presented for gold, yet it would be his duty (whenever, in his opinion, it became necessary) to redeem silver dollars in gold and start another endless chain and drain upon the treasury. According to the doctrine laid down in Mr. Carlisle's letter you cannot stop the drain of gold from the treasury until you retire all the silver dollars and silver certificates and leave nothing but gold as the money of the country.

I am glad that this declaration has been made. I am glad that our opponents are, step by step, revealing to the public eye this heartless, merciless, criminal policy. I am glad that they have told the public that we must have gold alone, and then confessed to the public that we are in the hands of two banking syndicates and must pay them for that gold whatever they want.

Talk about monopolies! Talk about trusts! My friends, they propose to establish the most gigantic of all trusts—a money trust—and let the few men who hold the gold dole it out at such price as they will to all the other 70,000,000 of free born American people. I denounce the policy as more cruel and heartless than political domination of a foreign power. I would rather, as some one has said, put our army in the hands of a foreign general or our navy in command of a foreign admiral than to put the treasury department in the hands of a secretary who would barter it away to a syndicate. I would resist such a financial policy with as much earnestness as I would resist the progress of an invading army coming to attack our homes.

The Republican party offers no protection to the farmers, who constitute the home market of the factory employees. Free silver protects them against Indian wheat and Egyptian cotton.

THE BANKS DISGORGE.

They Give Munificently to the Republican Campaign Fund.

I learned today from an absolutely correct source that very recently large sums of money have been contributed to aid the sound money cause by people who have never before aided a political party.

The banks of Pennsylvania are generally contributing to the campaign fund. Seventy thousand dollars was contributed from Pittsburg banks last week. A percentage on the deposits to a fixed amount was agreed upon. The banks do this on the ground of the necessity of protecting depositors and their stockholders. A number of Philadelphia banking institutions have given $10,000 each.

"The conditions are such as warrant the expenditure," said a contributor to me today. "Ruin would confront us with free silver."

"There will be $1,000,000 contributed in the state of Pennsylvania," said a person to me who knows whereof he speaks. "All the railways in Pennsylvania are in politics. All the horse and electric car lines and almost all aggregations of labor are overwhelmingly arrayed in favor of sound money."—William Shaw Bowen in New York World.

Under a gold standard rising in value it will take twice as much of your labor or goods to pay your debt ten years from today as the money you borrowed would buy today.

Fighting For the People.

The Democracy is not warring on capital. It makes no effort to take from anybody what is already his. It simply opposes the efforts of the plutocrats to exact more tribute from the people.—Kansas City Times.

What we want is a dollar that will maintain its parity with the property which that dollar is to buy.—William J. Bryan.

The Rioter and the Patriot.

When a free silver man asks a gold advocate a question, he is dubbed a rioter. When a gold standard man shoots holes in a portrait of Bryan, he is christened a patriot.—Exchange.

Labor's Good Friend.

HUMOR OF THE HUSTINGS AS THEY HAVE SEEN IT.

How Moses P. Handy Was Introduced. General Alger's Tearful Typewriter. Senator Carter and the Baby Kissing Candidate's Wife.

"The most amusing experience I ever had in a political campaign," said Major Moses P. Handy, "was in 1884, when Blaine was a candidate for president. I had been invited to speak with Blaine and Beaver at a town in northeastern Pennsylvania. Blaine and Beaver were absent, but I was there. The hall was filled with an enormous audience in anticipation of Blaine's coming, when a telegram was received that the distinguished orators had missed the train.

"The chairman was disappointed, but, having one orator in the person of myself, determined not to lose the opportunity to let the assemblage hear good Republican doctrine. So he got up and began as follows:

"'Gentlemen, we expected to have with us this evening that great Republican, the idol of our party, the Plumed Knight, the Hon. James G. Blaine, our candidate for president'—

"Tremendous applause.

"'But Mr. Blaine could not come. We expected to have with us this evening that gallant veteran than whom no man is dearer to the heart of a Pennsylvanian, the governor of this great commonwealth, Hon. James A. Beaver'—

"More applause.

"'But General Beaver could not come. We expected to have with us this evening that representative of all that is best in Pennsylvania journalism, the eminent editor of the Philadelphia Press, Mr. Charles Emory Smith.'

"More applause.

"'But Mr. Smith could not come. However, gentlemen, we have with us this evening one of the most popular Republicans in Pennsylvania, an eloquent orator, a man known to every one of you, Mr.'—

"And, turning to me, he asked in a voice loud enough for every one to hear:

"'Beg pardon, sir, but what did you say was your name?'"

A Typewriter's Fears.

"My funniest experience," said General Russell A. Alger, "during a campaign was not on the stump, although intimately connected with the stump. I had neglected to prepare my speech, and, thinking it best to jot down a few notes, I went to the stenographer at my hotel and asked her to take my dictation. She asked whether I wanted it taken direct on the machine. I thought that way would be as good as any other and began dictating. She went right ahead, but as I was in the midst of my peroration she burst into tears. I wondered why my eloquence had been so melting and asked what was the matter.

"'Would you mind speaking that all over again?' she said, with eyes full of tears. 'I forgot to put any paper in the machine!'"

Why He Was In Doubt.

"I met an old colored man in my state," said National Committeeman Yerkes of Kentucky, "during a recent campaign, and I asked him for whom he was going to vote.

"'Pears to me it's putty nigh on ter de huntin season,' was his reply.

"'What's that got to do with it, uncle?' I asked him.

"'Dis yere chile needs a new gun putty bad,' he ventured, with a sheepish glance.

"'And what of that, uncle?'

"'I could get a putty good gun for a dollar, and I ain't seed none of de candidates yet, and so I calc'late I dunno who I'se goin to vote for.'"

Kissing the Babies.

"I was making a trip through the south," said Senator Tom Carter of Montana, "when I was introduced to the wife of a man who was running for congress. I wanted to be pleasant to her, so in order to start a conversation I inquired:

"'So your husband is running for congress?'

"'Yes,' she replied.

"'I suppose it keeps him pretty busy,' I ventured.

"'Yes,' was the very short reply.

"This rather froze me and somewhat discouraged my attempts to be pleasant, but I came to the front again with what I thought was a humorous remark:

"'I suppose he kisses all the babies in the district.'

"This was unfortunate. She flared up angrily.

"'Don't believe a word of it. He hasn't had time to kiss his own babies for two months.'"

Stole Morton's Speech.

"I am happy to say that I have had no amusing campaign experiences," said Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, who is a candidate for the senate to succeed Voorhees. "Such experiences are usually more amusing to the audience or other people than they are to the person whom the joke is on. I remember a story that is told of Oliver P. Morton and General George Sheridan. The two orators traveled together during one campaign and made speeches jointly. First Morton would speak, and then he would be followed by Sheridan, who was one of the brightest and wittiest orators I have ever heard. Sheridan had a remarkable memory and was very fond of a practical joke. Morton used to write his speeches and trusted chiefly to his notes. During the campaign he delivered the same speech a good many times, and Sheridan had become so familiar with it that he knew it by heart. One day when they went before a meeting Sheridan, whose turn it was to first address the audience, got up and recited Morton's speech word for word, to the dismay of the governor. When it was the latter's turn, he did not know what to say and had to plead illness. It was a long time before Morton forgave Sheridan the trick, and he had to make a solemn promise not to repeat it before Morton would agree to continue their joint tour."—Chicago Times-Herald.

FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE.

A Criminal Cannot Violate His Parole and Flee to Another State.

A question of considerable practical importance in the law of interstate extradition was decided in New Haven recently. A man named Drinkall, who had been sentenced by a court in this state to the Elmira reformatory, was conditionally released from that institution upon his promise of good behavior, in accordance with the statute which permits prisoners to be thus paroled. He violated his parole and went to Connecticut, where he got into prison for criminal fraud. Upon the expiration of his term of imprisonment there a demand was made by the state of New York for his surrender as a fugitive from justice, and this was resisted by means of habeas corpus proceedings in his behalf. After full consideration the Connecticut court decided that Drinkall must be delivered up. In view of the language of our statute concerning paroled prisoners from Elmira, the decision could hardly have been otherwise. One who violates his parole and flees into another state is as much a fugitive from justice as one who breaks out of the reformatory itself.—New York Sun.

OPERA RATE WAR.

It Causes Reduced Prices In the Italian Theaters.

An opera rate war is on in Italy, and spectators are now admitted to some of the most expensive houses at popular prices. The papers have not spared the performers in consequence of the reduced rates, as the following from Italy shows: "For the revival of the 'Lucia' reserved seats in the orchestra were only 25 cents, 20 cents for the parterre and 10 cents for the amphitheater. We cannot say that the cheap performance had artistic merit, but Miss Fornari used her thread of a voice all right, the tenor Prati sang Donizetti's melodies with expression, and the bass Allegri maintained the role well. As for the conductor, he kept his musicians from losing the beat, which is as much as one can expect for 10 cents."—Exchange.

Svengali's Prototype.

For about 12 years Mr. G. Du Maurier resided at New Grove House, Hampstead, and it was here that "Trilby" was written, as was also "Peter Ibbetson." Several of the characters in both books were drawn by Mr. Du Maurier from some of his Hampstead neighbors. Last autumn the author left Hampstead in favor of Kensington, and the house has now been taken by the well known philanthropist, Miss Mocatta, who has turned it into a girls' orphanage. A diligent search is being made in the district for Svengali's prototype.—London Chronicle.

The Bad Boy of Texas.

Texas has a boy burglar who is incorrigible. The boy began his career about two years ago by stealing a cow, which he subsequently traded to a negro woman for half a dozen chickens. Three months ago he stole two horses, for which he was placed in jail, but the pleadings of his mother secured his release. Recently he was caught burglarizing a house. All hopes of reform have now been abandoned, and for his last offense he will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.—Exchange.

Sickness is a burglar who is continually trying to break into human life. His most usual tool is constipation. This one, seemingly unimportant thing is the primary cause of nine-tenths of all human ailments. When the bowels fail to act, impure, poisonous matter is retained in the system, is absorbed by the blood, and carried to every part of the body. All the digestive organs are affected, and particularly the largest and most important of them—the liver. Constipation causes biliousness and bilious headaches; retards digestion in the stomach causing fermentation—sour stomach, flatulency, and feverishness, a feeling of fullness, heart-burn, and other disagreeable symptoms. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They afford immediate relief, but it is not merely a temporary relief. You do not become a slave to the use of the "Pellets." They gradually restore the healthy, natural action of the digestive organs and you may stop using them until some indiscretion in eating again makes them necessary. Doctors are supposed to know more about health and sickness than anybody else, and when the doctor comes, the first thing he does is to find out if the bowels are in good order.

"A Word to the Wise is Sufficient."

The more one knows about health and disease, the easier it is for him to be healthy. Knowledge of some of the simpler laws of health is of the utmost importance to everyone, and everyone may have this knowledge by possessing Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser." IRELAND'S FLAG

May Float Undisturbed in This Country.

FAMOUS LAWRENCE CASE IS FINALLY SETTLED.

Judge Hopkins' Ruling in the Matter.

Lawrence, Mass., Oct. 1.—Contractor Patrick O'Brien was arrested for displaying an Irish flag on a portion of the staging of the new ward 6 schoolhouse on July 4. As there is a statute forbidding the display of any foreign flag upon a public building, O'Brien was found guilty, and Judge Stone of the police court fined him $10. An appeal was taken to the superior court, and yesterday Judge Hopkins ruled that Ireland had no flag except that of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. The case was accordingly dismissed.

At the trial, Mr. De Courcey, counsel for O'Brien, filed a motion to quash the complaint (1) because Ireland is not a sovereign country within the meaning of the statute; (2) because the statute is unconstitutional; (3) because the complaint does not fully, formally and substantially set forth any offense against the law.

He then addressed himself to the court in support of the motion, and incidentally called the court's attention to the visit of Lord Chief Justice Russell to this country, and inquired what flag should be raised in his honor, the flag of his native place or the flag of Great Britain?

Dist. Atty. White followed and contended that according to the best definition Ireland was a country, and was so recognized.

Judge Hopkins then inquired of Mr. White if he wished him to take judicial notice of any act of parliament establishing the flag of Ireland. To this the district attorney replied that he knew of no such act.

Then the judge said that he could not take judicial notice of what constituted the Irish flag. Said he, "I am inclined to the opinion that the most the legislature intended was to prevent the displaying of a flag of an independent nation. Ireland is not a foreign country within the meaning of the statutes. I must, therefore, sustain the motion to quash."

Thus was ended the flag episode, which caused so much trouble here, and which had the effect of rekindling the dying embers of religious intolerance and race prejudice.

The construction of the law by Judge Hopkins is just the converse of that put on it by Judge A. C. Stone of the local court, and it is the first judicial construction put on the law by a higher court.

THEIR 16TH ANNIVERSARY.

Grand Dry Goods Opening of O'Donnell & Gilbride Co.

Sixteen years ago this month Constantine O'Donnell and Patrick Gilbride started in business in a small store on the site of their present quarters. Each year since, this popular firm has been adding to its business until today they claim to have the largest and best stocked department store north of Boston. This year they have taken in partnership two of the young men formerly in their employ, James A. Kelley, who had charge of the cloak department, and John H. Burns, the accountant of the establishment.

With the addition of this young blood in the management of this large and popular house greater success than ever may be reasonably looked for. This morning Mr. Kelley took a Sun man through the establishment and showed him the choicest line of goods that has ever been shown in this city.

The first attractive features were the beautiful show windows where in one are to be seen as rich a collection of sacks and outer garments as the city affords. In the next are the dress goods, patterns and novelties. The firm has the exclusive sale of these patterns which are new. The third Merrimack street window shows blankets that would gladden the hearts of Arctic explorers, and other domestic goods. In the Palmer street window one finds a most elaborate display of furniture. A new and exquisite Dresden set holds the eye of the spectator and causes expressions of admiration while near by may be seen a handsome brass bed with accompanying chamber furniture, a bird's eye maple, a white ivory and mahogany set, the beauty of each being enhanced by the contrast as presented by the skilful window dresser.

Within all is grand. The larger basement is replete with everything imaginable in the line of cut glass and chinaware while the carpet and drapery room abounds with the latest patterns.

In the furniture, and in fact in all other departments, the attractions are numerous and striking, while the prices are surprisingly low.

The store is adorned throughout with potted plants and ferns and the opening, which continues tomorrow and Saturday, is a credit to the business and to its projectors, The O'Donnell and Gilbride Company.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

Music Hall

"Harbeck's Vaudevilles," a strong combination of specialty artists of European and American reputation, will open in Music hall next Monday in that very laughable and interesting burlesque, "The Derby Mascot." The company is headed by William Harbeck, an artist whose peculiar work is the amazement of the medical faculty, who do not seem to be able to solve his secret. The dancers, singers and acrobats of the combination are the best in their line and are sure to carry the audience by storm. In fact Mr. Chas. A. Taylor, the manager, who has guided many a company through the country, says the success of "Harbeck's Vaudevilles" is almost sensational. The patrons of Music hall have a fine treat prepared for them.

A DESPERATE BURGLAR

Was Captured at Westford Yesterday—He Used a Black Jack on His Captors.

The burglar arrested by Capt. Moffatt yesterday, who gave his name as Lyman E. Stinson turns out to be George M. Bruce of Shirley and he is said to have a criminal record.

The burglary occurred in Westford Tuesday night the barn of J. Varnum Fletcher being entered and $55 worth of harness stolen. J. Willard Fletcher who sleeps in the barn discovered the theft shortly after it was committed and went for assistance sending William H. Pollock on a bicycle to look for the thief on the Graniteville road.

Pollock soon came up with a man carrying a harness over his shoulder and when he intercepted him the thief struck him over the eye with a black jack knocking him off his feet. Then he shouldered the harness again and rushed to a team he had hidden in the woods.

But Pollock gave chase again, reinforced by Fletcher, and they caught and held their prisoner after a hard struggle. At the Fletcher barn the prisoner grabbed a gun which was nearby and gave his captors another hard battle.

The Lowell police were notified and at midnight went out to Westford taking Stinson, as he called himself, in charge and shipping him to Ayer in time for court this morning. There he was identified as George M. Bruce of Shirley, who while under arrest once for alleged horse stealing, jumped from the window of a train going at 30 miles an hour. He is 45 years of age.

Bruce was held in $1000 for the grand jury.

YEARS OF PROSPERITY.

Court Merrimack, F. of A., Passes Its 17th Notch.

Seventeen years old, healthy and prosperous, is the record of Court Merrimack, F. of A.

Yesterday was the anniversary of its organization and the birthday party it held last night in Foresters' hall was a most enjoyable one.

E. F. Young, C. R., began the exercises with an address of welcome, and he was followed by W. F. Thornton, whose song was well given.

The other numbers were addresses by Supreme Chief Ranger L. J. Smith, who spoke on "Forestry"; E. S. McMurtry, supreme secretary, on "Benefits, social and financial, which come from membership in our order"; W. S. Stafford, F. S., on "The condition of our court"; songs, D. S. O'Brien, Wm. B. Ready and James Donnelly; and reminiscences by T. F. Roche, on "Old times in 1880."

THE STORM KING

Wrought Death and Destruction in South.

SCORES OF LIVES REPORTED LOST.

Florida and Georgia Worst Sufferers.

Memphis, Oct. 1. — A special to The Commercial-Appeal from Jacksonville, Fla., says: It is a conservative estimate to say that 50 people have lost their lives from Tuesday's hurricane, and the number may run much higher. News from that portion of the state where the storm first struck is very slow in coming, for wires are down and railroads are impassable. Wrecking parties which went out yesterday morning have not returned, and it will be tomorrow before the full extent of the damage is known.

The hurricane struck Florida at Cedar Keys, and reports show that it passed in path of destruction over 20 towns and villages, and that between 30 and 40 people have certainly been killed. Cedar Keys is about 100 miles southwest of Jacksonville. The hurricane, which has been churning the water of the Gulf, first struck this place, a village of 1500 inhabitants. The only report which has come concerning Cedar Keys is that the town has been swept away and many lives have been lost. This report comes from Gainesville, which is 50 miles away. Nobody has been able to get anything direct from Cedar Keys. Moving northeasterly, the storm struck Willistown, a small town, where 11 houses were blown down, one person was killed here and several so badly hurt that it is expected that they will die. Near here is a large turpentine farm, on which state convicts are employed. Twenty of these were huddled together in a cabin. A heavy tree was blown across the cabin and six of the convicts were crushed to death.

In Alachua county the storm did frightful work. In Gainesville the Methodist church and about 20 residences and business houses were destroyed, and a number of people were hurt. No fatalities are reported. At La Crosse, 15 bridges were destroyed. Rev. W. A. Barr, Mrs. F. F. McIntosh and her babe are reported killed. Near there four laborers, who were in a cabin at a turpentine farm, were crushed by falling trees. Newburgh, in West Alachua, is totally wrecked. C. J. Eastlin, Mrs. Nancy Moss, Frank Olmstead and David Jones were killed. At High Springs, Melissa Hardin, Jane Morris and Sallie Nobles, colored, are reported to have been killed. At this place a number of people took refuge in a boxcar, which was in the path of the cyclone. It was blown along the track, and then off at a distance of 50 feet, and every person in it was badly hurt. Steve Mason and George Johnson have since died.

At Gracy, a small place, 12 houses were blown down, and a woman was killed, and a baby at her breast was uninjured, although it had been carried some distance by the force of the wind. At Lake Butler, Bradford county, Mrs. C. H. Harkey, Mrs. J. H. Fitch, and her infant were fatally hurt. Many buildings were blown down. At this place the wind blew to pieces two cars loaded with bricks, and a negro was killed by being struck by one of the flying bricks. On Judge Richards turpentine farm, four convicts were killed by falling trees.

In Baker county, four towns were almost totally destroyed. They were McKlenny, Sanderson, Glen St. Mary and Olustee. No one was killed outright in these towns, but many were injured, four fatally.

At Live Oak the destruction is complete, but no loss of life is reported.

Near Welborn, the house of Amos White was destroyed, and two of his children killed. At Lake City, eight business houses and 13 houses were destroyed. Three persons were killed and three were fatally injured.

Six persons are reported killed at Fort White, in Columbiana county.

The hurricane passed over Duval county, striking the edges of Jacksonville, but doing very little damage, and there was no loss of life. Just north of here, however, in Nassau county, considerable destruction is reported. Five children were killed in the wreck of a schoolhouse.

At Hilliards, another schoolhouse was wrecked, and four children were killed. At Kings Ferry five persons were killed. Three sailors were killed on schooners that were loading lumber at Kings Ferry.

Across the line, into Georgia, the devastation was continued. At Folkston, which is near the Okefenokee swamp, the schoolhouse was wrecked and four children killed. Several casualties are reported in Camden county, Ga.

The storm then continued on its way to Florida. The losses may seem heavier than when closely examined, but the opinion of the insurance men here, is the Florida losses will foot up $2,000,000. This seems, however, an excessive estimate.

Richmond's Dose.

Richmond, Oct. 1.—The severest storm in the history of the city was experienced here Tuesday night, and yesterday the streets and parks were strewn with debris. The loss to the property will reach a considerable figure, but fortunately there was no loss of life. All of the higher buildings of the city are more or less damaged, and churches were injured in various ways. Many of the large factories had their roofs carried away.

Heavy Damage In Shamokin.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 1.—The damage caused by the cyclone that passed over this section is greater than early reports indicated. It is now thought the total loss will reach $350,000. Fourteen dwelling houses and 20 board shanties, occupied by mine workers, were also blown down, and five of the former were consumed by flames. Two of the tenants were killed, several injured, and 11 head of cattle were crushed to death.

It is reported that Roumania has joined the dreibund.

The town of Jacamel, Hayti, was nearly destroyed by fire.

A high wind, blowing from nearly all quarters, visited Boston.

England alone prevents Tunis from becoming French territory.

TO STOP AT DONGOLA.

Expedition Will Go No Further Up the Nile During the Present Year.

London, Oct. 1.—It is semi-officially announced that no advance of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition south of Dongola is contemplated during 1896. The whole province of Dongola will be held at Korti and El Dabbeh. Strategic points south of, and on the road to Dongola, will be permanently garrisoned, and gunboats will patrol the river.

In addition, the province of Dongola will be recognized, British-Egyptian administrators will be appointed, a police force will be established, only British troops, with machine guns and gunners will be kept to the front, the railway will be completed to Kaiban, at the last cataract north of Dongola, and the work will be done under the supervision of British engineers. It is further pointed out that further advance at present is impossible, owing to the condition of Egyptian finances.

Laurier Wants an Ablegate.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—A prominent ecclesiastic of Quebec province, yesterday divulged the object of the much discussed visit of Abbe Proul to Rome. It was generally understood that Premier Laurier has a private understanding with Abbe Proul, whereby the latter was to make such representation to the Vatican as would lead to the Quebec hierarchy being compelled to keep out of Dominion politics. The truth is that through Abbe Proul Laurier has asked that a papal ablegate be appointed for Canada. The ablegate would be the vice regent of the pope in this country, and superior in rank to the cardinal archbishop of Quebec.

Scotch Playhouse Burned.

Aberdeen, Oct. 1.—The Palace of Varieties, a playhouse, was burned at the beginning of the performance last night. The performers lost all their property. The audience was thrown into a panic, which threatened disastrous consequences, but no fatality occurred, and only a few persons were burned, though not seriously. Many were trampled and crushed in the rush to get out of the burning edifice, and sustained injuries of more or less gravity. The music hall in the structure was in a state of complete ruin within half an hour after the fire was discovered.

British Warship Afloat.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 1.—H. M. S. Wild Swan is ashore somewhere along the Central America coast, according to reports that have just reached Esquimault, from the south. The particulars are not obtainable, but it is believed that she is in a very dangerous position, at least naval authorities are of that opinion, as the Comus has been ordered south to assist her. The Comus is now being put in readiness for the trip.

Military Protection Asked For.

Prague, Oct. 1.—A serious strike is in progress throughout the coal regions of North Bohemia, due to the incitement of anarchists. Strikers have been marching from pit to pit at Bruex, forcing the miners to stop work, and at Ossegg and elsewhere the strikers are smashing windows or doing other damage, besides intimidating the miners. The managers of the mines have asked for military protection.

Bell Will Go Free.

London, Oct. 1.—The Daily Mail says that the prosecution of Edward Bell, the man arrested at Glasgow on a charge of complicity with Tynan in a dynamite conspiracy, and who was later identified as Edward J. Ivory of New York, will be withdrawn, owing to the failure of the government to secure the extradition of Tynan, Kearney and Haines.

British Revenue Figures.

London, Oct. 1.—The revenue returns for the United Kingdom for the quarter ending yesterday, show a decrease of $1,825,645 compared with the same period of 1895. The decrease was chiefly in excise and customs duties. The returns for the quarter ending June 30 showed an increase of $8,140,250, compared with the same period of 1895.

Short of Meat at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—Owing to the strike on the Canadian Pacific railway, only main line passenger trains are moving, though two freight trains got out yesterday. The company is receiving no perishable freight, and a fruit and meat famine is imminent. The grain rush should be on, and dealers are kicking.

Starving Indians Become Riotous.

Simla, Oct. 1.—Serious rioting has occurred at Delhi in connection with the rise in the price of grain, and the military authorities have been warned by the newspapers to urge prompt government assistance for the poor classes. Grain riots are also reported at Agra, Cawnpur and Nagpur.

Fiasco Predicted.

London, Oct. 1.—The Vienna correspondent of The Times, speaking of the anti-Masonic congress which is being held under Catholic auspices at Trent in the Tyrol, says: The Trent congress promises to be a fiasco. There is small attendance, mostly made up of the clergy.

British In Possession.

Salisbury, Matabeleland, Oct. 1.—The district on the Mazoe river, where there was serious fighting for three days, and where a British force was hemmed in for 10 hours by a strong force of natives, has now been cleared of rebels, and their caves have been blown up.

Jews Burned Out.

Tangier, Oct. 1.—The Jewish quarter of Fez, the principal city of the empire of Morocco, has been burned, and several persons have perished and many have been fatally injured. It is estimated that there are 10,000 Jews in Fez out of a total population of 100,000.

To Plead For Canadian Sealers.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—Sir Charles H. Tupper has been engaged as senior counsel in the Behring sea seizure claims commission by some of the sealing firms of Victoria, B. C., who hold large claims. The commission will meet early in November.

Banquetted by Brethren.

Cork, Oct. 1.—The American and Canadian delegates to the recent Irish convention were tendered a banquet here last night, prior to their departure. All of the local members of parliament were present, except Maurice Healy.

Spain Sure of Her Loan.

Madrid, Oct. 1.—It is denied here that there has been a hitch in the negotiations for a loan to the government of a million of pesetas. On the contrary, it is stated that the loan will shortly be concluded.

BLAME THE JEWS

Three Women Tell Story of Armenia.

SPANISH JEWS MARKED HOMES OF ARMENIANS.

Eight Hundred Killed at Stamboul and Haskeny.

New York, Oct. 1. — Three women, who claim to have been victims of the Turks in the recent massacres at the Golden Horn, are now at Ellis island. They tell a story of the cruelty of the Turks and Kurds that bears out what has already been told in the cable dispatches. Their names are Belzar Malachian, aged 40; Christine, aged 18, and Angele, aged 14. They all speak English, though they are Armenians by birth. The youngest girl tells the story of what her mother, sister and herself claim to have witnessed. The girl also says she speaks Turkish, Armenian, Yeddish, Greek (modern), Syrian, French and English, the latter with a strong Scottish accent. The youngest girl alleges that she was a teacher in the Scottish mission at Constantinople, and when the massacres commenced they were at a village named Haskeny, about three-quarters of an hour by steamer from Stamboul. They had gone there to spend their vacation.

"About four weeks ago," said the girl, "we heard that the Kurds were coming and we all hid away in the cisterns and under the roofs of the houses. My mother, my aunt, my sister and myself were in a cistern for three days. Then the women got out and hid under the tiles of a roof. We next went to the house of an English lady, and from there got away and came to New York. The Turks and Kurds rushed into the houses and killed all the Armenian males they could find. The soldiers used sticks and stones, and beat the men to death. The boys they tied up by the feet, and told the mothers and sisters of them that all males ought to be hanging that way. The soldiers did not touch the women, though they insulted them with words. They said the sultan had so ordered it. When we left the village we had only a slight covering, and our slippers were wet with the blood that ran down the streets. Five hundred males were killed in Haskeny and 300 in Stamboul. The soldiers insulted the American flag, saying that that flag had no savior in that country. The day before the massacre began the Spanish Jews went through the village and put a red mark on the doors of Armenians. Some Armenian young men put red marks on the houses of the Jews, and a lot of them were killed. The Jews are the cause of the trouble to the Armenians. All the property we had they took and destroyed, and they burned up our clothing. The people hid in the churches, but the soldiers followed them and killed the men."

The three women are going to Worcester, Mass., where a son of Mrs. Malachian resides. He works in a factory there.

Many Changes at Harvard.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 1.—Harvard begun its 261st year today, and Cambridge is once more a lively college town. There have been several material changes about the college this summer, notable among them being the remodeling of the entire interior of University hall, for the sole use of the administrative department, and changes in the law school, which afford double shelf capacity in the library, and additional lecture room. There are changes in the curriculum, chief among them being the establishment of two courses in celtic, and for the first time, a course in Russian.

Receiver Fink at the Head.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—At midnight last night the Norfolk and Western railroad, which was organized 15 years ago by Philadelphia capitalists, nominally passed out of existence, and the officers of the reorganized company took possession of all property belonging to the system. Henry Fink, who is acting as one of the receivers, assumed the presidency.

Cottage Home Fight Settled.

Denver, Oct. 1.—Judge Johnson, yesterday, overruled the decision of Secretary of State McGaffey and gave the cottage home emblem, which had been claimed by the so-called "Middle of the Road" Populists, to the regular organization known as the Patterson Populists.

Whitehead Declared Insane.

TAXES

COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

The assessors have committed to the Collector of taxes the

TAX LIST FOR 1896.

With instructions to collect in the manner prescribed by the Statutes of the Commonwealth, and the Ordinances of the City of Lowell, the sums assessed by them to the persons named therein, and he is now ready to receive payment of said Taxes at his office in City Hall.

When a Poll Tax only is assessed, the Tax is due, and if not paid forthwith, the Collector will proceed to collect the Tax as directed by the General Statutes.

WARRANTS will be promptly issued for the collection of Poll Taxes.

SUMMONS, bearing costs, will be issued against delinquent Poll and Personal Tax Payers on or about November 1st.

INTEREST at the rate of seven per cent per annum will be charged upon all Taxes which remain unpaid October 20, 1896, until the same shall be paid; and such interest shall be added to and considered a part of said taxes. Poll Taxes are assessed on every male inhabitant above the age of 20 years. On undivided real estate each heir is liable for the whole tax. An error in the name of the person taxed does not defeat the collection of the Tax. Each partner is liable for the whole Tax assessed under the partnership name.

The assessors are now distributing Tax Bills. If any ratable inhabitant, by removing his residence since the 1st day of May, or from any cause, should not receive his Tax Bill, he must consider the Tax demanded by this notice, and a new bill will be made out on application at the office of the City Treasurer and Collector of Taxes if a Tax has been assessed.

All who preserve their Tax Bills and bring them when they come to pay, will save the time of making a new bill and facilitate the business of the office.

THE RATE OF TAXATION FOR 1896 IS $15.00 ON $1000.

Office Hours: From 9 o'clock a.m. to 3 p.m.

For the convenience of the Tax paying public the office of the Collector will be open in the evening as follows: Mondays, Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, from Oct. 2 to Oct. 13, inclusive, 7 to 9 o'clock p. m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, from Oct. 16 to Oct. 20, inclusive, from 7 to 9 o'clock p. m.

☞ Look for your Tax Bill at your place of residence May 1st, 1896, and bring it with you.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Parents Object to Limiting Attendance at Kindergartens to Children of Four Years.

The proposition to raise the age of children desiring to enter the kindergarten school from three to four years does not meet with the approval of parents. A Belvidere resident said yesterday that he believed that if the age is raised it will detract considerably from the influence of the school. The younger the children are who take hold and enjoy kindergarten work the better training will their young minds receive. Should the age be raised to four years it will allow a child but one year in the kindergarten.

The attendance reports indicate a falling off in the primary school attendance and an increase in the number of pupils in the grammar schools as compared with last year.

LABOR'S ENEMIES

Republican Party Has Earned That Title.

PLUTOCRATS ARRAIGNED BY LOCAL LABOR LEADER.

An Interesting Letter From Henry Hamer.

Mr. Editor:—I have felt somewhat reluctant about entering in to this campaign in an active manner owing in a measure to the depressing influence of enforced idleness and to the fact that the question which confronts us is so great and complicated that it behooves all laboring people to study carefully before committing themselves.

The money question was a question that we as a class knew least about of the other political questions of the day. But this much we do know, that money is the great essential, the great motive power, that lies at the bottom of all business and industrial pursuits, and the success and prosperity of all nations depends to a great extent on how much money they they possess and how they handle it. We are taught that there are different kinds of money and different standards of value; those standards being devised by what they call financial experts or what we would more appropriately term the sharks of finance, and are adopted from time to time by the different governments. The experience of the civilized world teaches us conclusively that the evils of the money system are not so much with the kind of money we use as they are with the individuals who make it their business to handle it. The powers of these men are great as it is on them that the prosperity of the country depends. This fact has never until recently been brought home to the toiling millions. Protection versus free trade was the cry of the parties and the everlasting question of the day. But now we are beginning to find out that the masses need some change that will be deeper and more far-reaching in its effect upon their future welfare than either of those old and played out issues and they begin to see and believe that what is called bimetallism is just what they need and what they have been looking for, as it will act as a curb on the selfish greed of the handlers of money by opening the mints for the coinage of silver thereby creating a more plentiful supply of currency and consequently breaking the power that is held by the monopolizers of gold.

The great men of all parties now admit that the cause of the hard times is shortage of gold, our government not having sufficient of the yellow metal to meet the expenses of government without encroaching upon the usual limit of the gold reserve in the treasury and the consequence is, according to the logic of Tom Reed that a lack of confidence sets in and causes a shortage of business and a commercial panic. Well, the great point is, how is this to be remedied? And again we have the great men or leaders of the party agreeing on the same remedy.

All agree upon the nature of the cure for our financial ill, but not upon the time or mode of prescribing. The republican party under the leadership of McKinley is confident of the disease that the country is suffering from and of the drug that would be likely to cure the trouble, but are unwilling to administer the same without the aid and consent of foreign physicians; while the democratic party—the party that is in touch with the greater number of the people, knowing and realizing that they are the greater sufferers, and confident of the efficacy of the cure, are more than anxious under the leadership of the able and heroic William J. Bryan, to administer and to render the patient immediate relief and that without waiting for the advice, aid, or consent of the foreigners. Because they are taking this view of the case the working classes are told by the republicans that if they will submit to the taking of the dose of bimetallism in this fashion it will result in certain death, although it is the same medicine that they advocate themselves. Where is the consistency of such reasoning? The people are now more than ever on the alert to their interests and welfare and will not heed the false and inconsistent reasoning of the teachers and followers of foreign gods.

The workingman need not expect the republican party to come to his relief, for as a party it is undoubtedly wedded to the interests of the few—the friend of the syndicate and trust, the believer in the doctrine of privilege, monopoly and plutocracy. Hence, it would be as reasonable to expect to gather grapes of thorns or figs, of thistles as the workingmen to hope or expect to gain anything of real value from them.

The Chicago platform is imbued with the true principles of democracy. There is not a plank in it that is tainted with the breath of plutocracy. It is another bill of rights that the plain people demand, and they should not hesitate for a moment to give it their logical and undivided support. Let them not follow the example of the would-be leaders, of labor who sacrifice their principles and their manhood and their trust for notoriety's sake and for the pleasure of eating cheese and crackers with the servants of the enemy. The effect of the success of the Chicago platform on the people will be so great that it is referred to as the coming revolution, and the campaign is likely to be the hottest that has ever taken place. Principalities and powers—the hosts of greed and might, the money changers, and worshippers of the Golden Calf have all gathered in battle array to do battle against the interests and rights of those who are born poor and of low degree and who must earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. They will make a desperate effort with the aid of their riches to keep the toilers and spinners subservient to them.

There is no doubt that it will be a battle indeed, and in truth, between the classes and the masses. On which side should the wage earner be found? Will he be found fighting in the lines of the enemy, with Mark Hanna for leader—the man that has always proven to be the foe of the laborer and the friend of the plutocrat? No! It cannot be that the sons of toil will be forever blind to their own interests and be led astray again to follow the trail of those who live and grow rich upon the sweat of labor and the cream of industry. Workingmen, consider your interests by studying this question. Don't be scared by big shut-downs or any other trick of the enemy. Let Arkwright club and all other clubs of the same nature see that their day has gone by and the reign of democracy is at hand.

There is a club in this city organized just to make life pass as pleasantly as possible and it is called the Moose club. Recently a paper in speaking of it, referred to it as the "Boose" club, and the friends of the members insist that the compositor made no mistake with the "B" but did with the "s."

As B. and S clubs are becoming quite frequent all over the country, it might be well to explain that the letters are abbreviations of Bryan and Sewall and not the other B. and S.

The season is not going to slip away without a final series of races for the entertainment of Lowellians after all, for the French-Canadian club and Frank Harris have arranged for an elaborate meeting to be held at the Wannalancit trotting park on Oct. 8, 9, 10, at which from all accounts some good racing will be enjoyed. Wannalancit park has not had any races this year, but has been used all summer and the track consequently is in fine condition.

On Thursday there will be a 2.34 class for a purse of $100, and a 3 minute class for a similar purse.

On Friday a 2.40 class, trot or pace as are all others, for $100 will be held besides a special, free-for-all race for a similar purse. Then beside these a running race for a purse of $75 will be enjoyed.

The events on the closing day will consist of 2.50 and 2.25 class races for $100 each.

The Pawtucket Club.

At the residence of Mr. Peter McGuire on Willie avenue Tuesday night several of Ward seven's well-known young men met and formed a permanent social club to be known as the Pawtucket club. The club will be independent politically. The following named officers were elected: President, Geo. Leonard; vice president, M. J. Howard, financial secretary, Arthur B. Hassett; recording secretary, Joseph Hebert; treasurer, M. F. Groves.

Railroad Changes.

The Lowell and Lynn electric cars run only every hour now and the Lowell and Billerica cars will make half hour trips.

MATRIMONIAL.

Miss Catherine J. Tompkins and Mr. Charles L. Boutillier, both well known young people of this city, were united in marriage at the church of the Immaculate Conception last evening. The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Joyce, O. M. I., and it was witnessed only by a few of the relatives and friends of the young couple. The bride looked charming in a beautiful dress of white silk trimmed with white chiffon, while her sister, Miss Helen Tompkins, who acted as bridesmaid, wore white muslin. Mr. George Hayes was best man and the ceremony was most impressive.

At its close, the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, 464 Rogers street, where, at 7 o'clock, a reception was held.

Macauley-Parlee.

The little Episcopal church in Chelmsford Centre was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Mr. George K. Macauley of Brookline and Miss Ella J. Parlee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Parlee of this city, were united in marriage.

The church was very handsomely decorated with plants and flowers and white festoons, and it was a most beautiful place for the wedding of two popular young people. About 60 friends of the contracting parties were present. Rev. Mr. Waters performed the ceremony.

Browne-Hale.

George Browne of Boston and Miss Emma E. Hale of this city, were united in marriage at the Central Methodist church parsonage on Eleventh street, yesterday afternoon, by Rev. C. E. Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Browne will live in West Medford.

BASE BALL.

Since the announcement yesterday that the South Ends and Emeralds are to play for the championship of the city at the Fair grounds next Saturday, the cranks are around and are again discussing the national game and the merits of the players of both teams.

It grieved them somewhat to have the league championship go out of town and they disliked to see the best season in the history of base ball since '67 go into history without deciding which of the city teams holds the title of championship. Hence they are pleased at the prospect of Saturday's game and will be out in large large numbers.

It is estimated that the game will be one of the best attended of the season and it will also be a hot game, for it's the old-time rivalry between the North and South commons over again with the best players from each bailiwick on the team from that end of the city.

Scott, who will pitch for the Emeralds, is in fine form, while Moore, who will probably play with the South Ends, is not by any means out of condition.

An interesting side issue at the game will be the 100 yards dash between Andrew Rourke of the Emeralds, who is an all-round athlete, and Billy Luby, the professional short distance sprinter, who claims the championship of Lowell and who challenges any runner in the city. Both men are training and are doing 11 seconds, their friends claim, and their race promises to be as hot as the ball game. The fun starts at 2.30 o'clock.

Billy Merritt the National League catcher of this city has returned home after the season and will umpire the game at the Fair grounds on Saturday.

Banner Lodge Deceased.

Banner lodge, I. O. G. T., has followed in the wake of Pride of Lowell lodge and has surrendered its charter. There are now four lodges in the city, Elrene, Mt. Zion, Thistle and Flora E. Stacey.

Rich and poor alike suffer the tortures that come with that terrible plague, itching piles; rich and poor alike find instant relief and permanent cure in Doan's Ointment. Your dealer keeps it.

Shoot the Hat

Is an expressive remark. It means a great deal. It is often heard when certain hats do not meet public approval. We are thankful to say it has never been made about any hat we have ever sold. In their worst state, after they have seen years of service, and have grown old enough to be grandpas, these hats of ours still retain that indescribable air of elegance, style and good quality which marks the perfect hat. They will not fade, nor break. Rain has no power to injure them, and the prices range from

There was a gathering of 75 men, interested in good roads, in Jackson hall, last evening.

The following officers were elected: T. P. Hall, president; C. H. Conant, vice president, and George H. Stevens, secretary, and an executive board consisting of A. M. Chadwick, Jesse H. Shepard, D. J. O'Brien, L. J. Riley, F. A. Bean, E. A. Holden, J. A. Faulkner, A. S. Thompson, P. W. Reilly and C. E. Curtis.

The meeting adopted a resolution in favor of good roads.

Chelmsford's New Pastor.

The Central Baptist church of Chelmsford Centre, has engaged Mr. E. F. Snell of Lawrence to occupy the pulpit until Jan 1st, '97, made vacant by the resignation of Rev. H. A. Cornell.

No Tidings Yet.

Circulars containing a description of Olive Book, who left her home on Bachman street, Saturday, will be sent to the police throughout the country. Nothing has yet been heard from the girl.

TWO BOYS ARRESTED.

Believed to Have Entered Several Stores in Centralville.

Clement Ducharme, aged 19 years, was arrested on Lakeview avenue at 9 o'clock last evening by Inspectors Allen and Laflamme and Officer Frank Fox. Edward Perrin, aged 17, and Alfred Latoulite, aged 18, were arrested early this morning in Collinsville by Inspectors Allen and Laflamme and Captain Moffat, after a long search.

The boys are charged with breaking and entering stores in Centralville.

Silver to Burn.

A messenger of the American Express company dropped a bag containing about $40 in loose silver coin on Middlesex street and recovered only $27 of it. A 15-year-old lad was found later at the Music hall entrance distributing money and was arrested.

Clerk Smith Returns.

Clerk Joseph Smith of the police board returned to his office this morning after a pleasant trip to Montreal, Three Rivers, Quebec and other points of interest beyond the line.

Our Kitchen

No kitchen is kept cleaner than the premises devoted to the manufacture of NONE SUCH Mince Meat. No housewife can be more fastidious in the matter of preparing food than we are in the selection and preparation of the materials of which it is made. The cleaning of the currants (for one thing) is more thoroughly done by means of perfected appliances, than it would be possible to do it by hand.

Its cleanliness, purity, wholesomeness and deliciousness are good reasons for using NONE SUCH Mince Meat. The best reason is its saving—of time, of hard work, of money. A ten cent package affords you two large pies, without trouble to you beyond the making of the crust. Makes just as good fruit cake and fruit pudding as it does mince pie. Sold everywhere. Be sure and get the genuine.

Send your name and address, and mention this paper, and we will mail you free a book—"Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving"—by one of the most famous humorous authors of the day.
